Art, Garden Fair Pagoda Gateway Is Open Tonight

The first of thousands of Marin Art and Garden Fairgoers at 6 p.m. today will throng through the pagoda gateway to this year's "Cherry Blossoms in July" event at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

A record $15,465 in premiums was awarded this afternoon to outstanding professional and amateur model gardens, flower arrangements, specimen plants, vegetables, and fine arts and photography exhibits. Prizes for individual entries ranged from $1 to $425.

A red torii gateway framing the center's famed magnolia grandiflora is typical of the Japanese touches accenting San Rafael landscape architect Henry H. Cole's fair design. Cole describes the 17th annual fair as an interpretation of the influence of Japanese culture and landscaping on Bay Area living.

A live "art-in-action" demonstration of artistic skills from portrait painting to jewelry making will be presented throughout the fair's five-day run by the Marin Society of Artists.

Highlighting opening night attractions, according to fair manager Marcelle B. McCoy, will be an 8:45 p.m. fashion show of summer styles presented for the fair by the Mannequin League of Marin.

Also featured tonight will be square dancing by the Marin County Square Dancers Assn. from 7:30 p.m. Full dinners will be available to fairgoers at the Ross Valley Players' restaurant.

Special July 4 fair events tomorrow will include an afternoon Japanese folk dance festival sponsored by the Marin Nakayoshi Society, and a special 2 p.m. judo demonstration. Excerpts from "The Mikado" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. by the Lamplighters, San Francisco repertory theater company. The Marin Dance Council will present an exhibition of folk dancing beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Admission to fair entertainment is included in the price of admission to the grounds. Children under 12 will be admitted free when accompanied by adults.

Serving as volunteer cashiers in the fair's tradition of community participation will be: San Anselmo Rotary Club, Ross Valley Kiwanis Club, Marin County chapter of Chi Omega Alumnae, and San Anselmo Lions Club.

Fair hours tonight at 6-10 p.m. Hours tomorrow through Saturday at 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

DANCING AT THE FAIR

The Marin Nakayoshi Club, a Japanese cultural group, is sponsoring under the direction of J. M. Hirai of Tiburon, a festival of folk dances of Japan at the Marin Art and Garden Fair which opens tonight in Ross. Forty young girls from the Bay Area will perform on the Torii-gate lawn tomorrow afternoon. The fair will run through July 7. Three-Cent County Tax Increase Is Estimated

Board Of Supervisors Given $2.08 Figure

Marin County's 1962 budget will call for a tax rate of $2.08 per $100 assessed valuation, unless changed at final budget hearings next month.

Asst. Auditor Michael Mitchell today submitted the $2.08 figure—up three cents from last year's rate—to the board of supervisors. It is based on calculation of all changes made in preliminary budget discussions which wound up last week.

It was a half cent under Mitchell's estimate made before close of the preliminary discussions last week.

Among items in his calculation was a guesstimate of a 10.2 per cent rise in assessed valuation of Marin County properties, comparing with a 10.6 per cent rise the previous year.

Assessor Bert W. Broemmel said today he will turn over his annual secured roll to the supervisors next Tuesday, at which time Mitchell can calculate his figure anew. Further basis for change will come in early August when the state sends in its figure on utility values.

Respective valuation figures are an actual $268,366,585 for last year and an estimate that this year will be $296,100,000.

"That's conservative," commented Supervisor

George Ludy, who during preliminary budget discussion told Mitchell he was calculating too low.

"I feel that it's realistic," said Mitchell, revealing that after Ludy's criticism he had gone up $1,937,000 over the figure he had used in calculating the earlier $2.085 proposed rate.

Mitchell said that property taxes called for in the budget as originally proposed amounted to a $6,095,396 whereas decisions during the preliminary discussions were up about $25,000 to $6,120,176.

He said that the total of the preliminary budget as it is to be printed for final consideration will be $13,997,570, whereas the items as initially proposed came to $13,940,459.

The library tax applicable only to certain areas of the county will add 14 cents this year as last.

Copies of the preliminary budget have been promised supervisors and the public for July 31 and public hearings on final budget will start Aug. 13. They will conclude and a final budget will be adopted Aug. 21.

Bus Walkout Settlement Hopes Dim

Chances of commuter buses in Marin breaking down because of lack of daily maintenance increased today as a strike of Greyhound Lines machinists continued with dim hopes of settlement.

A meeting between Automotive Machinists Union representatives and officials from the Chicago headquarters of Western Greyhound Lines was scheduled today at 1:30 p.m. in San Francisco before a federal mediator.

"But this does not indicate an early settlement," said Fred L. Martin, union business representative. "Our meeting with the company Sunday night failed when we thought we had reached an agreement. The main demand is sick leave for our men, and the company is adamant in refusing it."

About 350 machinists who repair Greyhound buses at the main San Francisco shops went on strike over the weekend. Martin said buses will need repairs during the week, and his union will make sure its "interests are protected" by preventing any repairs outside the San Francisco shops.

Grand Jury Still Probing Jail Death

Marin County Grand Jury, probing the "paraldehyde intoxication" death of a county jail inmate on May 21, heard nine more witnesses last night but reached no decision.

Jury Foreman Irving Chapman said the jurors do not plan to call any more witnesses on the case but will meet again at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the courthouse. A decision may come Thursday night, the foreman indicated.

PARADE, FIREWORKS

Everyone's Ready For Glorious 4th

A parade, a patriotic flag display, a free public "bean feed," a carnival and two spectacular fireworks shows will be among Marin County's observances of "the glorious Fourth" tomorrow.

These events are scattered about the county, with Bolinas staging both the parade and one of the night fireworks displays. The other fireworks show will be the big traditional affair at Corte Madera.

Mill Valley will see 115 flags set out on business streets.

The beans will be served at the Lions Club picnic area below Stafford Dam, west of Novato. The bean feed will be an all-day event under sponsorship of the Novato Lions Club.

Jack Lepinski, Lions president, promises plenty of food and parking space. There will also be beer and games with Archie Sawyer, an owner of Cloud Five Restaurant, preparing food and sauces.

Proceeds of this affair will be used in Lions Club charities, Lepinski said.

Bolinas will start its parade from 11 a.m. at the branch office of the College of Marin on the Embarcadero. Child participants will receive prizes for the best costumes.

William A. Pomeroy as usual will be in charge of fireworks starting at 9:15 p.m. on the Bolinas beach, where there will be games for children during the afternoon, directed by Parker F. Edwards.

Corte Madera's 10th annual fireworks show at the Neil Cummins School at 9:15 p.m. tomorrow will be sponsored by the Larkspur-Corte Madera Recreation Committee and financed by merchants who have been solicited for $1,200 by a committee including Mrs. Colleen Swanson, chairman, and William Yeager, Harold Kelly and Carl Brown.

Members of the Corte Madera Volunteer Fire Department will conduct and safeguard the big affair.

Scouts of Explorer Post 34 under the direction of John T. Little will place 115 American flags throughout the Mill Valley business district under sponsorship of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Algeria Becomes Independent Nation

ALGIERS (UPI)—Algeria became an independent nation today, ending 132 years of French rule and almost eight years of bitter fighting with a wild display of joy.

French President Charles de Gaulle proclaimed the new nation's independence with a brief 145-word statement this morning. France then turned over control of the country to the provisional executive in ceremonies at nearby Rocher Noir.

Less than six hours later, Prime Minister Ben Youssef Ben Khedda and his provisional government in exile returned to Algiers to assume formal direction of the new country.

Ten of the 12 ministers of the government which has been in exile in Tunis for several years arrived at Algiers'

Maison Blanche Airport this afternoon aboard a plane provided by Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba.

The only ministers missing were Vice Premier Mohammed Ben Bella and Mohammed Khider, both of whom are reported at odds with the rest of the regime over Algeria's future. They were expected here in a few days.

The reports of a struggle for power between Ben Bella and Ben Khedda brought threats of a possible civil war. But a spokesman for Ben Khedda said in Tunis that the exile regime was returning as "a body whose authority is not disputed by any of its 12 members." Sources close to Ben Bella said he would never "undertake any action against the government."

IT'S HOLIDAY TOMORROW FOR NEARLY ALL

Marin County government offices and most business will shut down for tomorrow's Fourth of July celebration, and many residents will hang flags to commemorate the Independence Day celebration.

The Independent-Journal will publish as usual.

Novato Mayor M. E. Silva and Mayor John F. McInnis of San Rafael today urged residents to fly their flags.

Mayor McInnis requested the ringing of church bells for five minutes at noon.

First Step Taken By San Rafael Toward Getting State Landscaping

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

A hesitating first step toward making the south entrance to San Rafael eligible for state landscaping was taken early today by the San Rafael City Council.

The council instructed City Atty. A. E. Bagshaw to prepare an ordinance amendment removing the exclusion of the Francisco Boulevard stretch from the ban on advertising signs along Highway 101 through the city.

The State Division of Highways will not landscape a freeway unless a billboard-ban ordinance is in effect. When San Rafael adopted such an ordinance two years ago, the Francisco Boulevard sector stretch was specifically exempted.

In directing preparation for an ordinance revision, the councilmen made it plain they merely wish to have it on hand "if and when" the state moves in providing a wider freeway. Permit plans call for the right-of-way beside Francisco Boulevard to be moved about 15 feet to the west.

Adoption of the ordinance revision was urged by Gene F. O'Connor and Joe Petersen of the San Rafael Beautiful Committee, backed by a letter from the San Rafael Lions Club, signed by president Leonard Phillips.

Just before taking up the highway entrance as last major matter of a five-hour meeting, the council had upheld planning commission rejection of two billboards beside the route—but only by inaction.

West Coast Advertising appealed planning commission turnaround of the billboards, which would be on Northwestern Pacific Railroad property where the eastbound frontage road curves to connect with the highway.

French, German Leaders Start Talks

Adenauer

Paris was aglitter yesterday when the 87-year-old chancellor arrived. The city accorded Adenauer a welcome normally reserved only to a visiting head of state.

de Gaulle

PARIS (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer get down to business today in talks expected to seal the reconciliation of the new Germany and France.

The two "grand old men" of Western Europe, their foreign minister and advisers meet at the Elysee Palace in the first of three formal meetings scheduled during Adenauer's week-long visit.

Paris was aglitter yesterday when the 87-year-old chancellor arrived. The city accorded Adenauer a welcome normally reserved only to a visiting head of state.

The black-red-gold banner of West Germany waved alongside the French blue-white-red tricolor on public buildings.

De Gaulle said in his welcoming speech that French-German cooperation was "the basis for a union which Europe always has dreamed but which it never has been able to realize."

New Bureau Chief

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Alfred L. Coffey of Sacramento, a former Berkeley policeman, is the new chief of California's Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation.

He succeeds Harold Gillett, who has retired. August Meister, also of Sacramento, was named assistant chief by Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk.

Last Convict Down

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The last of 13 convicts climbed down from a water tower early today at the Western State Penitentiary, ending a week-long demonstration against alleged prison brutality.

Prison officials said Charles Miller, 32, serving a life term for murder, climbed down from the tower unassisted at 5:55 a.m.

He was taken to the prison hospital. His condition was not immediately learned.

New Berlin Wall

BERLIN (AP)—Working behind a screen of smoke and tear gas, the Communists began building a wall along West Berlin's border with East Germany last night.

There was some suspicion they planned to surround West Berlin with concrete and steel barriers.

The Communists have virtually completed the barricade they began last August along the 26-mile border between East and West Berlin. Until last night, the 69-mile rough arc marking West Berlin's boundary with East Germany had been fenced off only.

Soblen Improving

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Robert Soblen probably will not be well enough to travel to the United States "for at least another two or three days," a hospital spokesman announced today.

The fugitive spy who tried to commit suicide to escape a life sentence in the United States spent a fairly comfortable night and the improvement in his condition was maintained, the spokesman said.

Churchill Condition

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill, now recovered enough to sit up out of bed, was visited by his wife today in Middlesex Hospital.

Lady Churchill said "He is getting on very nicely."

She said there is not yet any indication when Sir Winston's fractured thigh will be sufficiently healed to let him out of the hospital.

Mwami Of Burundi To Visit JFK

USUMBURA, Burundi (AP)—An African king who reckons he is one of the best royal twisters in the world is coming to the United States this summer to meet President John F. Kennedy and see the White House.

Mwambutsa, the mwami, or king, of the new nation of Burundi, met foreign newsmen yesterday and told them he will leave his pocket-size country next door to the Congo at the end of the month and tour the United States, Britain, Belgium, Switzerland, The Netherlands and France.

Burundi is half of the former trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi. Belgium's troops are due to quit the country by the end of July. Their departure could open the way to trouble from the mwami's political foes, but the ebullient, 56-year-old monarch said he didn't think there would be any trouble.

Mwambutsa has held his throne for 43 years, since he was 13. Since the assassination of Crown Prince Louis Rwagasore last year, his heir has been 17-year-old Prince Charles, now studying in Switzerland.

The mwami is a regular visitor to night clubs and sometimes sits in on the drums. Hating formality, on his last visit to Belgium he was constantly trying to elude his bodyguards. Once he climbed out of his bedroom window, he hailed a cab and danced in a night club until the early hours.

His proficiency at the twist comes naturally, he explained.

"As an African," he said, "of course I find it easier to do than whites. We have got the natural swing needed. Come down and watch me some night at one of the night clubs."

Mwambutsa is popular with his people and drives about Usumbura in a yellow American convertible, waving to everyone he sees. He has a chauffeur but prefers to drive himself.

Polishing off his whisky and soda, he jumped behind the wheel of his convertible and told the newsmen as he roared away:

"I think I have a game of dice now."

West Presses To Conclude Laos Conference

GENEVA (UPI)—Western leaders decided today to press ahead with off-stage moves to bring the 14-nation Laos conference to an early successful conclusion.

U.S. Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs W. Averell Harriman met with the British, French and Canadian delegation chiefs.

Conference sources said there was a general consensus that prospects for a speedy Laos peace settlement were good, despite Communist threats at the resumption of the conference yesterday after a five-month recess.

The western leaders hoped that quiet, behind-the-scenes negotiations would promote

PRO-RED LAOS LEADER SAYS HE WON'T RELEASE YANKS YET

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Prince Souphanouvong, the pro-Communist vice premier in Laos' new coalition government, said today his Pathet Lao forces would not release four American prisoners until after the Geneva agreement on a neutral and independent Laos is signed.

"I am taking all the American government's demands into consideration," the prince said.

"But we also imprisoned other nationalities and we do not want to make a difference between them."

agreement on the few outstanding problems. Britain's delegation chief Malcolm MacDonald and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georgi Pushkin, the co-chairmen of the conference, scheduled a meeting later today.

The plan was that they would try to settle what now remains to be done outside the conference chamber.

Conference leaders hoped that agreement would be speeded by this type of "quiet diplomacy" which would reduce harmful propaganda speeches.

In a further effort to speed up a settlement here, the leader of the new Laotian delegation, left-wing nationalist foreign minister Pholsema flew to Paris to confer with Premier Prince, Souvanna Phouma today on the declaration of neutrality which Laos has to present to the conference.

The declaration is to pledge that Laos wants to be a neutral nation in trouble-ridden Southeast Asia, free from outside interference of any kind. It also is expected to renounce the protection of the Western SEATO defensive alliance.

FEARS $15 BILLION DEFICIT

Byrd Rips Chamber Tax-Cut Call

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, today denounced the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's call for a substantial income tax cut.

Byrd said the reduction would be inflationary and would mean a 15-billion-dollar federal deficit.

Byrd said he was convinced that even without a tax reduction there would be a federal deficit of 6 billion dollars in the fiscal year which began Sunday.

Williams told the Senate yesterday that "while it may be politically popular at the time, the long-range inflationary results for Americans would be disastrous."

He declared that "I refuse to have any part of such irresponsible action as to endorse a tax cut in the face of our present deficit."

Byrd told a reporter he would have a detailed statement on the chamber's recommendation later.

But he said that congressional tax experts already had advised him that the proposal would chop tax revenues by 9.5 billion dollars a year instead of the maximum 7.5 billion dollars estimated by chamber officials.

Byrd said he was convinced that even without a tax reduction there would be a federal deficit of 6 billion dollars in the fiscal year which began Sunday.

Thus, Byrd said, the chamber's tax proposal would lead to a deficit of more than 15 billion dollars.

Williams aimed a broadside at Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a Republican, and Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio, and Edmund G. Brown of California, Democrats. He said he had noted they had joined "in the parade calling for an immediate tax reduction."

"Significantly, at the governors' conference we find that the governors were calling for more and more federal aid from Washington," Williams said.

"These governors, as well as the president and the United States Chamber of Commerce, know full well that a tax cut in the face of a continuous rise in government spending would lead to a staggering deficit. A deliberately planned deficit of such proportions at this time would be the most inflationary action this administration could take."

The Americans for Democratic Action today joined the tax cut cry, demanding "a sharp reduction in income tax rates, concentrated in the lower brackets."

The ADA said a cut "has become a matter of immediate urgency to invigorate the national economy."

A U.S. Chamber spokesman opposed proposals for taxing U.S. firms' earnings on foreign investments, part of the administration's tax revision bill.

The chamber spokesman, Washington lawyer Walter Slowinski, complained today before the Senate Finance Committee that the foreign earnings tax proposals "are so drafted as to prevent U.S.-controlled foreign corporations from competing on equal terms with foreign-owned corporations on foreign soil."

In his prepared testimony, Slowinski said the provisions "are hastily drafted, stop-gap measures which leave many serious technical issues unresolved."

Kennedy Tells U.S. Envoys They Are In For Hot Time These Days

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President John F. Kennedy has suggested that if U.S. foreign service officers "cannot stand the heat" of modern diplomacy they ought to "get out of the kitchen."

"Personally," the president said, "I think the place to be is in the kitchen."

Kennedy made the remarks in an off-the-record speech to the American Foreign Service Assn. May 31. It was published in the foreign service journal and circulated today by the administration.

In the speech, Kennedy set forth the requirements for diplomats in his administration. It is no longer enough, he said, to be "merely experts in diplomatic history... now you have to involve yourselves in every element of foreign life—labor, the class struggle, cultural affairs and all the rest."

A diplomat abroad must know "every facet" of American life in order to represent it "with strength and vigor," Kennedy said. He must learn to be happy while constantly under attack, and must expect the "criticism of the uninformed" and attacks which may be "malicious and in many cases self-serving."

Kennedy said he wants the diplomatic corps to show more ability to come up with quick proposals for solving ever-changing problems. "Dissent and controversy," he said, are welcome.

Peace Corps Job

NEW YORK (AP)—John D. Rockefeller IV, 25, has taken a summer job as special assistant to Peace Corps chief Sargent Shriver.

A Peace Corps spokesman in Washington said young Rockefeller, great-grandson of the oil dynasty founder, would work without pay for the summer only.

He will aid Shriver in recruitment, liaison with field training in Puerto Rico, and orientation for corps members, the spokesman said.

Marin City Home Applications Due

Beginning next Monday, Marin City residents may apply for the first 59 single-family homes to be built in their community under the Marin County Redevelopment Agency program.

The homes, first proposed in 1958, are two, three and four bedrooms in size and are expected to range in price from $15,500 to $17,500.

An office will be set up at the low-rent project administration building at 429 Drake Avenue. Post card questionnaires have been sent to those expressing interest in the homes, said Executive Director Bert Klahn.

The first families will move in before the end of the year, Klahn said.

Northgate Project Gets New Director

Donald C. Marek of 2042 Huckleberry Road, Lucas Valley, will direct development of the Draper Company's Northgate projects in Terra Linda.

Besides supervising land development of the shopping center, garden apartments and industrial park, Marek will be responsible for an apartment and commercial project in Santa Cruz.

Prior to joining the San Francisco real estate investment firm, he was the real estate manager in the planning and research department of the Del E. Webb Corp. of Phoenix, Ariz.

Marek received his B.S. in architectural engineering from Iowa State College in 1952. He is a member of two honorary engineering societies.

In another personnel change announced by Draper, Jack K. Rowe of 63 Roque Moraes, Mill Valley, will be accountable responsible for the firm's financial administration.

Students Flip Two Small Cars On Highway 101

Two students bowling down Highway 101 south of Alto interchange last night overturned their nearly-identical small imported cars with injury to three persons.

Lawrence G. Bibbens, 20, of 51 Elm Avenue, San Anselmo, was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts and bruises of the lower back, then given a California Highway Patrol citation for unsafe passing.

The patrol said Bibbens came up behind a car driven by his friend Kenneth M. Mooney, 17, of 7 Monona Drive, Corte Madera. Bibbens apparently overtook too fast. He suddenly swung left and his car "flipped." Swinging right in avoidance, Mooney hit the right curb and also overturned his car.

Slightly hurt but not taken to hospital were Charles Koppel, 17, of 220 Hawthorne Avenue, Larkspur, a passenger in the Mooney car, and David Lehman, 19, of 108 Willow Avenue, Corte Madera, riding with Bibbens.

Escape Artist Adds To Plea

In what Asst. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales complained was "a last-second move," San Quentin Prison inmate James P. Winton yesterday forestalled trial on an escape charge by changing his plea.

Winton, 23, is the Fresno County burglar, who hid in an underground burrow within the prison for five days last month while facing trial for escaping last Nov. 22.

He was to begin trial in Marin Superior Court tomorrow on the escape charge. Today through Deputy Public Defender Jerome C. Durham he added a plea of insanity to his plea of innocent.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson named Dr. Theo Miller, superintendent of Napa State Hospital, and Dr. Jean L. M. Pouteau of San Rafael to examine him and report back on July 23.

Smokers Called Russian Roulette Players

WESCOSVILLE, Pa. (UPI)—A California doctor said today one of every 10 persons who smokes two packs of cigarettes daily "will come down with cancer."

Dr. Ellsworth Wareham, a staff physician at White Memorial Hospital in Los Angeles, told the 52nd annual summer conference of Eastern Pennsylvania Seventh-Day Adventists that heavy smokers are playing "Russian roulette" with their lives.

"Hardly a week goes by but that I perform surgery on lung cancer and in many cases surgery is too late," Wareham said. "And then I have to inform a mother, father, or a sister."

The chest surgeon, an instructor at the school of medicine, Loma Linda University, Calif., noted neither Russia nor Great Britain permits the advertising of cigarettes.

Wareham also proposed a five-point program to help prevent heart ailments. He suggested regular habits and vigorous exercise, holding down weight, regular vacations and outdoor recreation, avoiding unnecessary tensions or stress situations and annual physical checkups.

"The award for such a program may well be to delay the development of blood-vessel disease by many years," Wareham said.

Earlier, an official of the organization called for continued strong opposition to Sunday "blue laws," claiming Sunday closings were "distinctly religious in nature and an infringement on the inherent rights of the individual."

Marvin E. Loewan, Takoma Park, Md., secretary of the public affairs department of the General Conference of Adventists, said "our opposition comes from a deep-rooted conviction that the church and state should be completely separate."

"Any breach of this constitutional guarantee is a step in the wrong direction," Loewan said.

SEEMS HUMANE SOCIETY FINALLY FINDS HOME

The Marin County Humane Society appeared yesterday to have found a home at last.

The county planning commission readily approved a request by the society to build an animal shelter near Ignacio. Requirement that the society submit a master plan for the whole industrial zone district and a subdivision map were waived, but the society must apply for a use permit at the proper time.

The recommendation now goes to the county supervisors for consideration at their July 10 meeting.

The planning staff reported that the proposed land use does not fit any specific district in the zoning ordinance, but there were no physical problems which would prohibit the use.

The society intends to build its shelter on approximately 5.8 acres between Nave Lanes and the Pimentel home on the east side of the railroad tracks at Ignacio.

'GREEN BELT' ZONE PLAN IS SENT BACK

Planners Feel Ordinance Should Cover Private Ownership Of Land

Perhaps what Marin County needs is both an open area "green belt" district and a zone for lands owned by public agencies, the county planning commission concluded yesterday.

Commissioners voted to send back to the board of supervisors a proposed ordinance applying the "green belt" concept only to lands belonging to local governmental agencies.

The motion by Commissioner Edward K. Wachsman suggested that the proposed "open area" (O-A) zone category be rewritten to control zoning of such lands when they pass into private ownership, not just while they are publicly owned.

The net effect of the commission's action was disapproval of what the county board had wrought, but with the recognition that the board could enact the measure anyway. The commissioners weren't at odds with the ideal of "green belt" areas, but felt the supervisors' ordinance wouldn't achieve them.

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs explained that public agencies usually acquire land for specific purposes, and generally it is necessary that they use such lands for such purposes. What the county should be concerned with, he said, is what happens to such lands if they are sold back into private hands.

Dobbs said the ordinance was "badly written." He said it bases zoning on ownership rather than planning reasons.

Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. said it would be difficult to have an ordinance which would be constitutional and still be valuable to the person who wanted to put his land in the open area zone to "hold" it. If such a zone forbade development and could be applied by the county, he said, it would be ruled invalid because it prevented a landowner from making reasonable use of his property.

Besides referring the proposed ordinance back to the supervisors with a negative recommendation, the commission will continue its own discussion of open area zoning at its Aug. 6 meeting.

Setting of a third trial for Richmond garbage man Lemone Brown, 34, on charges of raping and robbing a Mill Valley school teacher on Dec. 17, 1960, was continued yesterday in Marin Superior Court to Monday.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson continued the matter after earlier setting trial for Aug. 21 only to learn this date conflicted with other commitments of the public defender's office, representing Brown.

In his first trial in February, 1961, Brown was convicted of rape, robbery, sex perversion and felony assault. The District Court of Appeal reversed the conviction on the grounds that a "confession," obtained on the promise of leniency, was introduced by the prosecution.

In his second trial, a jury of 12 women on June 15 failed to reach a verdict.

A.F. Pilot Guides Plane To Safety

A heavy fog and a broken altimeter might have resulted in the crack-up of an Air Force jet airplane at Dover Air Force Base in Delaware except for a rescue job performed by Air Force Lt. Louis Shehi, a former Marin resident.

After the base control tower learned that a system failure in a T-33 jet aircraft, which had taken off from an Air Force base in New Jersey, had knocked out its altimeter and air speed indicator, Shehi flew beside the plane to guide it to a safe landing.

Shehi is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Eskei Shehi, 686 Idylberry Road, Marinwood.

Governors Want To Keep National Guard Units

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—The nation's governors came to grips today with the overriding issues of health care for the aged and civil rights.

Behind them, after a stormy session with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, lay a "no compromise" verdict on the Kennedy administration's effort to pare down and streamline what it thinks is an obese and outmoded National Guard and Reserve system.

The governors listened politely and stungly applauded McNamara's scientifically oriented explanation of why they should give up 295 National Guard units. They were unimpressed with an hour's closed meeting with the secretary.

As Gov. S. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia put it afterwards, the governors were willing to sit down and reason with McNamara about the matter, but, by the Continental Congress, they were not going to have the federal government out any local units in their states.

In his prepared text put out in Washington, McNamara had said:

"We want no paper tigers in our Reserve structure."

But this line was deleted shortly before he made his talk to the 54th Governors Conference. There was no immediate explanation for the action.

The Washington threat to the Guard was only one of the issues on which the governors said they want local control of almost everything that concerns the lives of their voters—except, of course, the fat federal aid without which the states could not operate today.

There was even an argument over whether the U.S. Supreme Court could interfere in a state's right to have a prayer said in its public schools. This stemmed from the court's decision that a state-dictated prayer in New York was illegal.

A couple of unlikely companions in this adventure, Govs. Farris Bryant, Florida Democrat, and John H. Ree, Maine Republican, gave birth to a resolution to put the conference on record as regretting the court's decision and urging Congress to amend the Constitution to "make clear and beyond challenge" the nation's traditional faith in God.

At that point came a parliamentary snafu. The conference has a rule that all resolutions must be submitted 30 days in advance. This one hadn't been and Gov. Robert E. Smylie, Idaho Republican, entered a dissent to its consideration.

Smylie and Gov. Orval E. Faubus, Arkansas Democrat, exchanged bitter unpleasant-tries. Faubus said Smylie had made an "untimely objection" to the resolution.

The betting was that despite all of the straining there would not be much significance in any civil rights proclamation issued by the conference.

Harry Press Is Elected Head Of County Education Board

Harry N. Press of San Anselmo, city editor of the San Francisco News-Call Bulletin, was unanimously elected president of the Marin County Board of Education last night. He served as vice president last year.

Press succeeds Mrs. Adele J. Alpers of San Rafael, who completed her second term as board president, the only person to serve twice since the elective county board was organized in 1956.

Elected vice president was Arnold Dolcini Jr. of Hicks Valley, who won over Walter L. Johnson of Loma Verde by a 4-to-3 vote with all board members present.

Mrs. Alpers was presented with a framed citation making her "Honorary Director of Education" in the county superintendent's office. Supt. Virgil S. Hollis made the presentation.

The election followed appointment of three members of the board to an additional year added to their terms. Mrs. Alpers, Johnson and Alce Ann Cole were serving three-year terms which ended June 30. But the legislature had changed the length of county board members to four years, eliminated the school election in even numbered years, and neglected to extend, the terms of those already serving.

So last night the other four members of the board voted to appoint the three for an additional year until an election is held next year.

Press reappointed all committees, but replaced himself as chairman of the service development committee with Mrs. Alpers.

The board approved appointment of men to two major posts. George H. Renworth, principal of Adeline Kent School in Kentfield, was accepted as principal of Bay View High School in San Quentin Prison. Charles J. Vento of Weaverville, Trinity County, was approved as director of the county's audio-visual department.

Also appointed were:

Mrs. Kathryn Mitch of Mill Valley as library consultant for six weeks to reclassify materials in the county office's professional library.

Mrs. Joy A. Bigler of Riverside as a teacher of orthopedically handicapped children.

Mrs. Dorothy Fischer of San Anselmo to teach a six weeks summer school for the deaf and hard of hearing at Marin-dale School.

Robert Corbett, Mrs. June Olieri and Robert Manthey to each teach one month at Juvenile Hall.

Mrs. Bernice Shortlidge of Riverside as school nurse.

Grady L. Davis, part-time teacher at San Quentin, to a fulltime position.

Mrs. Ruth S. Roche of Greenbrae as secretary to the director of business services; Mrs. Earlene L. Barbeau of San Rafael as secretary to the committee on school district organization, and Mrs. Jean Moffitt of Greenbrae as assistant secretary in the division of administrative service.

The board also:

1. Approved May 10-11 as the dates for the Bay Area Experiments in Education conference at Dixie School District, for which the county office will provide not more than $2,000 for expenses.

2. Awarded contracts for school supplies to low bidders indicated in bids received last February.

3. Approved a reduction in the county schools budget of $30,106, including deletion of a proposed publications technician position, in response to orders from state officials. The board was warned other cuts may have to be made later.

4. Approved a one-cent tax levy this year against school districts with less than 900 average daily attendance for education of mentally retarded students. Last year the levy was two cents.

Approved salary increases for 10 administrative secretaries as approved by the County Board of Supervisors and a $25 cost of living adjustment for the classified staff in accordance with other county offices.

Eventually, Ahy moved the council uphold the planning commission's denial.

"I can see no reason why the council should even debate this," said Mayor John F. McInnis. "Why the city council should go out of its way to benefit an outside advertising firm or the Northwestern Pacific Railroad beats me. . . . Do I hear a second to Dr. Ahy's motion?"

There was no second.

"Do I hear a motion to override the planning commission?" asked the mayor.

Nobody said a word.

"Since there is no motion, the planning commission's decision stands," the mayor ruled.

Earlier in its meeting, the council continued to July 16 decision on an appeal by Orville Russell of planning commission turnaround of location of a tower sign for the Harbor Shopping Center at 175 Belvedere Street, which would be visible from Francisco Boulevard and the highway.

Then architect John T. Armstrong Jr. of San Rafael arose in the audience to say he had put a proposal in the mail, addressed to the city manager, and hoped he would be included. His firm was added to the list.

All were accepted for study by the council.

Missing last night was data which was to have been submitted by the city manager on steps to be taken at once to acquire the proposed city hall site on Fifth Avenue and dispose of surplus city property. City Manager Dan E. Andersen left Sunday on a trip to Denmark.

Alcatraz To Begin Closing Next Year

WASHINGTON (P)—The Bureau of Prisons will begin closing out Alcatraz next year by transferring prisoners to other penal institutions, Bureau Director James V. Bennett said today.

The transfers will begin upon completion of the new federal prison at Marion, Ill., scheduled to open next year.

"Alcatraz will be phased out as Marion comes into operation," Bennett said. No deadline has been set for the complete discontinuance of Alcatraz as a federal prison.

Developer, Wife Reach Cool Parting

Novato developer John E. Novak, 43, and his wife Maria, 41, who waged a hot divorce battle two years ago, reached a cool parting of the ways in Marin Superior Court today.

Novak retains custody of their two sons and most of his holdings under a property settlement approved by Judge Joseph G. Wilson. Mrs. Novak receives an unimproved piece of property in Petaluma, some silverware, and a Cadillac automobile, but no alimony. She has the right to have her two sons with her on alternate weekends, for one month during the summer vacation, and during one-half of Easter and Christmas holidays.

The judge granted divorces to both Novak and his wife on grounds of cruelty.

Death Row Escape Try Still Mystery

San Quentin Prison officials today prepared to try to run hacksaw blades through Death Row's plumbing, to check a theory on how the blades were smuggled into the closely guarded area in an escape attempt.

The mystery of how five convicts were able to saw the bars of their cells—and of a section of barred fencing between their exercise corridor and the gunwalk—remained unsolved more than 24 hours after tear gas grenades put down the Death Row escape attempt.

As a check of the theory of smuggling blades through the plumbing was ordered, the six would-be escapees—five of whom had sawed their way out to release the sixth by smashing his cell lock—were given 29 days in isolation. Their cases were turned over to the Marin County district attorney for preparation of escape and assault charges.

Charles Lynn Deatrick, 27, the gunwalk officer they slugged in the escape attempt, was reported in satisfactory condition at Marin General Hospital. He suffered severe concussion but no fracture.

The second officer slugged, Sgt. Roy B. Kardell, 47, of Sonoma, went back to work yesterday with a bandage on his head.

The six would-be Death Row escapees, who held the two officers hostage nearly four hours before they surrendered to the tear gas barrage, are Clyde Bates, 41; Manuel Chavez, 30; Augustine Baldonado, 28; Louis Moya, 23; Willard A. Winhoven, 51, and David Charles Bickley, 22, all murderers.

The theory that they passed the hacksaw blades through the plumbing was put forward by a former inmate, whose identity was not disclosed.

"I'm not saying it's impossible," said Warden Fred R. Dickson. "We're checking it out."

No hacksaw blade has been found in a close search of the cell block. The prisoners aren't talking.

The ex-convict, released last April after serving a term for forgery, said the break was plotted last December. At that time a call went out for hacksaw blades, he said, and 14 were obtained.

The man said the blades were taken one at a time from prison shops and smuggled to the sixth floor—which holds Death Row and the isolation cells—through toilet pipes.

When the blades were not being used, they were suspended in the pipes on ropes hanging from the Death Row toilets, he said.

Warden Dickson discounted the theory, but said prison officers would try it to see whether it were possible.

If it is, an additional means will have to be found to protect the security of Death Row, already the most closely guarded section of the big prison.

None of the six men who made the abortive freedom bid faced a definite death date. Of Spahr, who lived at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jacqueline M. Perazzo, at 232 Sequoia Drive, San Anselmo, died in a hospital after an illness of several weeks. He had gone to the northwest on an assignment connected with the Seattle World's Fair.

Spahr, a native of Johnstown, Pa., had lived in Mill Valley and San Rafael for 11 years before moving into the home of his daughter.

He also is survived by three sisters, Helen Spahr of Washington, D.C. and Mrs. Thelma Dobson and Mrs. J. E. Jones of New York; two brothers, Richard E. Spahr of Malvern, Pa., and Joseph G. Spahr of York, Pa., and two grandchildren.

Cremation will follow services.

HEDVIG STONE

Mrs. Hedvig Margaret Stone, 69, died today at her home at 1421 Park Avenue, Novato, after a long illness.

An autopsy was to be performed.

Mrs. Stone was attended by a Christian Science helper at the time of her death.

She was born in Sandvig, Bornholm, Denmark, June 3, 1893. She came to the United States in 1910 and had lived in the bay area since then. She resided in Novato the past 10 years. Prior to that time she and her husband were poultry raisers in Petaluma.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. B. F. Edwards of Novato; a sister, Mrs. Marie Lund of Cotati; a brother, Carl Lind of Petaluma, other brothers in Denmark, and three grandchildren.

Christian Science services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Redwood Funeral Chapel in Novato. Burial will be in Piedmont.

Inverness died in the county jail about an hour and a half after being examined at San Rafael General Hospital by County Physician Rafael G. Dufficy Jr. Sheriff's deputies said they gave Powers a half cup of paraldehyde as prescribed by Dr. Dufficy.

Dr. Dufficy insists he prescribed triple bromide, not paraldehyde. Nurse Georgina Rogers, who was at the hospital on the night Powers was examined, corroborated Dr. Dufficy's statements before the grand jury last night.

Several sheriff's deputies testified they distinctly heard Dr. Dufficy order paraldehyde for Powers.

Last night's witnesses included Dr. John Lee, deputy county physician; Dr. Thomas E. McCormick, former deputy county physician; Dr. Fred Myers, pharmacologist from University of California Medical Center; three sheriff's deputies; two county jail inmates, and nurse Rogers.

The grand jurors heard a variety of opinions from medical men on the dosage and effects of paraldehyde, foreman Chapman said.

Daryl Hopkins, director of special education, said Murolo's custodial duties would be taken over by a seminary student and that a cabinet maker would be employed two hours a day to do special construction work Murolo has been doing.

Murolo's maintenance work could be done by bus drivers, Hopkins said. He estimated $3,807.75 per year could be saved.

Murolo, speaking personally and represented by Milton Aninos, field representative for the California School Employees Assn., maintained there would be no saving but possibly an increased cost. He said his job was not being done away with but merely redistributed.

The board agreed to investigate further and consider the dismissal again at its next meeting.

Employees' Attorney Surprised

An attorney for the City Employees Assn. of San Rafael got a warm reception from the San Rafael City Council last night—rather warmer than he'd expected.

Attorney William J. Murphy of San Francisco appeared to ask that the employees' association be given time for him to make a presentation regarding the proposed new city salary schedule.

Mayor John F. McInnis said it has been practice for the employees to make requests through their department heads. "I think an attorney would place a cloud on the right of the employees to ask a salary increase," he said.

WHY HIRE HIM?

Put in Councilman L. H. Baar: "I have never heard the employees' association request the council to talk about salaries... Why would they have to go and hire this man?"

"I feel we should meet with them," said Councilman Fred E. Jensen. It developed he had met with the employees' association as council representative and heard they were considering hiring an attorney.

"Would you prefer that the employees appear here, rather than me?" asked Murphy.

"I would infinitely prefer it," said Mayor McInnis. Baar agreed, saying, "I think the employees' association goofed." "They were scared to come up," said Murphy. "Because of recriminations, I suppose."

CALLED NONSENSE

Councilmen called that "nonsense."

Murphy, expressing himself as surprised at the reaction, asked the matter be set for a later meeting subject to his clients' wishing to continue it. The council agreed to set up a meeting on July 23.

Contract for the Lindero Street box culvert was awarded by the council to O. C. Jones and Son of Berkeley, lowest of five bidders at $24,395. Contract for the Louise Street drainage project went to Pombo Brothers of San Rafael, low of three at $4,849.87. Contract for street painting and striping went to A and M Striping Co. of Petaluma, low of two with a guaranteed maximum for the program of $13,695.

Contracts for street materials for the next fiscal year were split among Camgros Sand and Gravel Co., Hutchinson Co., Basalt Rock Co., and McPhail, Inc.

The San Rafael City Council last night also:

1. Adopted a resolution annexing a portion of the city to the Marin Mosquito Abatement District.

2. In a "Solomon judgment" solved a dispute over side setbacks for a house to be built by contractor Edward A. Burger on Palm Avenue. One neighbor, W. E. Ball of 16 Palm Avenue, whose own house is within two feet eight inches of the property line, objected to a variance to allow Burger's house to be six feet six inches from the line, where zoning now requires 10 feet. But the neighbor on the other side agreed the house could be moved one

Police Chief's Fate Avoided At Meeting

San Rafael city councilmen indicated last night they are willing to go along with recommendations by Police Chief Charles E. Simpson of Monterey for improving the San Rafael Police Department.

They carefully skirted, however, a prime recommendation of Simpson's report on his study of the department: That a citizens' committee be named to prepare a charter revision proposal which would make the police chief appointive.

Simpson appeared before the council by invitation to discuss points in the 57-page report he submitted on completion of a study of the department. With him to answer questions were Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa and his deputy, Capt. Joseph Brusatori.

Simpson had recommended immediate addition of a full-time dispatcher-clerk, a relief dispatcher, a stenographer-clerk and a patrolman. He said last night he would place them in that order of priority if it is felt funds will not allow adding all at this time. The dispatchers, he pointed out, would "release to street duty—where they belong—two experienced policemen." He said women dispatchers could be used.

Councilmen L. H. Baar and David Menary Jr. repeatedly questioned the role of the police chief, as seen by Simpson and Chiesa, in line with Simpson's comment that the chief spends much of his time out meeting the public and should delegate more of his duties.

Simpson said "the chief is on horns of a dilemma... because of the elective situation," feeling that he must go out to meet people so he will be re-elected.

"I don't agree," said Councilman Fred E. Jensen. "Our city clerk and city treasurer are elected and they spend their time inside... It's not necessary to be outside to get votes."

"I'm not spending that much time outside," put in Chiesa.

Questioned by Mayor John F. McInnis, Chief Simpson suggested Berkeley and Richmond as nearby cities having excellent in-service police training programs which might be copied by San Rafael.

A question by Jensen brought out that additional manpower and equipment suggested by Simpson had not been included in Chiesa's 1962-63 budget request because the request was prepared before Simpson's survey was completed. Captain Brusatori said the request had been submitted with the understanding it would be supplemented after Simpson made his report. That has been done, he reported.

County Planners Attempt To Reduce Revisions In Tiburon Master Plan

Hearings were set yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission for July 16 and Aug. 6 on Tiburon peninsula zoning matters which were referred back by the board of supervisors.

The first hearing will be informational only. During the interval, the planning staff will compile information and prepare recommendations for the next hearing.

The commission will consider the whole Alto interchange area, but will not limit discussions to that area.

One purpose of the "larger look" at Tiburon is to try to reduce the number of proposals to revise the area's master plan.

Commissioner Felix M. Warburg suggested the planning staff review zone changes made since the adoption of the master plan, checking on how many tended to bring zoning into conformity with the master plan and how many deviated from it, "so we'll know what direction we're going."

Set for re-hearing are requests for rezoning of three Alto properties to the administrative-professional district.

Up for study are the Harry C. Trayer property on Tiburon Boulevard east of South Knoll Road, the Barr and Burris property, also in the same location, and the Burris Lumber Co. property on the west corner of South Knoll Drive and Tiburon Boulevard.

Further discussion of a downtown Tiburon problem also is scheduled. It relates to a request by Fred G. Zelinsky to build two three-story commercial buildings between Main Street and Juanita Lane without having to submit a master plan for the commercial district. The request was approved, but parking and traffic circulation problems still remain.

The commission approved adjustments for Eichler Homes Inc., developers of a planned community in Lucas Valley, allowing front and rear setback reductions and permitting attached "town house" dwellings on lots of only 1,900 square feet.

The commission approved off-site parking for additions to Ross Valley Medical-Dental Center at 1030 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Approval was granted despite objections from nearby residential property owners on Butterfly Lane, who were represented by attorney Benjamin P. Bonelli. The owners object to overflow parking on their street and to repeated additions to the clinic in violation of what they consider an original pledge by owner Dr. John C. Siemens to maintain a 25-foot building setback in keeping with the residential area.

Other commission actions included:

Approval of tentative maps for Kent Woodlands subdivision units on extensions of Crown Road and Upland Road, one with 71 acres and the other with four acres.

Approval of a use permit and architectural plans by Alcan Pacific Co. to establish a business office in the former Sabella's Restaurant building, 633 Redwood Highway, Alto.

Acceptance of a tentative map for Reedlands Woods subdivision, an 89-acre tract adjacent to Reedlands Heights and the Bel Aire School and subdivision, Tiburon.

Reapproval of a tentative map for a six-acre Del Mesa Heights subdivision in Kentfield.

Continuance to Aug. 27 of a petition by Atherton Valley Property Owners Assn. for one-acre zoning in the Novato area.

Firemen Pay Hike Asked In Sausalito

Sausalito firemen may get a seven and one-half per cent increase in salary retroactive to July 1 as recommended last night by the city council's two-man finance committee.

The committee also recommended that City Manager Charles A. Brown conduct a survey during fiscal year 1962-63 to see if firemen's wages should be raised an additional two and one-half per cent to bring them more in line with those of police.

Firemen now make a top salary of $492 a month. The seven and one-half per cent increase would raise the top salary to $522.

Recommendations were made by councilmen Howard Sievers, chairman, and Michael Harris. The full council was present, as were a dozen city employees, many of whom spoke out for salary increases.

The finance committee will meet again Monday to discuss the library budget and capital outlay.

In addition, the finance committee recommended these considerations:

1. A basic increase of one step to all employees, excepting two new employees and building inspector William L. Hynes. A two-step increase is recommended for Hynes.

2. That Hynes' position also be surveyed, perhaps in January, by the city manager to see if the salary needs further adjustment. (Hynes requested the same salary as Norman Wohlschlaeger, supervisor of public works, now getting $615 on a salary schedule that has a top of $735.)

3. That the city pay one-half the hospitalization insurance for employees who join a majority plan.

4. That clothing allowances of $100 a year the first year and a smaller amount in later years be given firemen and $130 the first year and smaller amount later to police.

Corte Madera Council Will Discuss Public Safety Building Plan July 11

New plans for erecting a public safety building in Corte Madera will be discussed at an adjourned meeting of the town council July 11, councilmen decided last night.

The date was suggested by Mayor Edward W. Colthurst following a meeting with the volunteer fire department.

The council approved completion of about $50,000 improvements to the north half of Paradise Drive subject to conditions by the town attorney.

The Corte Madera town council also:

1. Reconsidered approval of the final map of Scotch Highland, a small subdivision on Corte Madera Hill. Alan Smith of 477 Montecito Drive and J. L. Berry of 479 Montecito Drive obtained assurance from developer Joseph Stewart that extension of a private road would not cause them any expense.

2. Decided that rescinding of the job of Earl Weller, former temporary public works employee, was equitable. Councilman Raymond L. De Young said the job was rescinded after Weller became ill as he had failed to take a required physical examination.

3. Gave first approval to resolution approving annexation to the town of property of Mr.

and Mrs. R. W. Beatty, 35 Deer Run.

4. Accepted report by councilmen Charles F. Pendleton and Albert E. Kogler that Frank Rusaleim, owner of Corte Madera Shopping Center, had promised 2,200 parking stalls would be clearly marked at the center this summer and $1,400 repaving would be done.

5. Continued to July 11 appeal by Allen Cook and Albert Tonsberg of denial of a permit to rebuild a house at 296 Summit Drive.

6. Heard report by Colthurst that in addition to donations from merchants, $400 was contributed by citizens of Larkspur and Corte Madera toward tomorrow's Fourth of July fireworks display.

7. Decided to ask Paradise Property Owners Assn. to seek approval of Marin Country Day School for erection of stop sign on school road at intersection with Paradise Drive.

8. Referred to the town attorney a request by Marina Village Homeowners Assn. for erection of a "three-ton load limit" sign at the entrance to the development.

Philip Smith To Head Hub School Board

Philip C. Smith was elected president of the San Anselmo School District board at an organizational meeting last night.

Smith, who has served on the board two years, is president of Walker Engraving Corp. in San Francisco. He lives at 130 Melville Avenue.

He follows Mrs. Mary Hedin as board president.

Robert W. Corlett was elected clerk, replacing Smith. John E. Wagstaff was re-elected as representative to the Marin County Committee on School District Organization, Supt. Stephen Parodi was re-elected secretary.

The San Anselmo School Board also:

1. Approved a budget of $975,488.43 to submit to the county superintendent of schools for approval. An increase of approximately $74,000 from last year is due to hiring of more teachers, boosted salaries and maintenance work. The board will meet July 17 to approve the budget for publication.

2. Hired two teachers: Karen Baker, fourth grade at Brookside School; Mrs. Neva Fleckenstein, combined fifth and sixth grades at Wade Thomas School.

3. Contracted with Minto and Wilkie Insurance Agency of San Rafael at $5,599.98 for fire and vandalism insurance for school properties for three years.

Children Swarm To Bowl Free

Marin children swarmed to bowling centers for free bowling yesterday and today, first of two days of "Bowling Recreation Week" sponsored by the Independent Journal in cooperation with Nave Lanes, Greenbrae Lanes and Country Club Bowl.

Free bowling for youngsters 8 through 16 years old will continue tomorrow, Thursday and Friday. All play is under supervision of instructors and "admission" is by coupon clipped from announcement advertisements running in the Independent Journal. Today's advertisement carries the last coupon.

Balls and bowling shoes are provided without charge.

Novato To Hold Budget Session

The Novato city council will hold its second budget study meeting at 8 p.m. today at the community building.

City administrator J. Julien Baget will report on the duties of a proposed finance officer for the city.

The city's insurance program and salaries for the police department are expected to be discussed.

Senior Citizen Survey Proper Start In Project

Most everyone is aware that nearly 11,000 Marin County residents and 65 or older; that medical science and better living standards have increased the average span of life to and beyond the Biblical "three-score years and ten" that something should be done to help the elderly help themselves.

Solutions offered run into the thousands—from palatial single homes and multi-million dollar hotels at public expense down to just short of euthanasia. But the plight of those idled by mandatory retirement rules—those who have outlived all their friends and relatives—continues.

It redounds to the credit of Marin County that a solution being sought through factual checkup on the situation of our elder citizens. Volunteers are completing a county-wide canvass, seeking to reach five per cent of the elderly, regardless of their physical or economic status. The questionnaire used in each case—with no signatures from those interviewed—seeks firsthand information as to health, financial condition, spare time use, church and organization membership, transportation and the person's estimate of his use of senior citizens' centers, should such be built.

From these, Louis Kuplan, internationally known specialist in this field of the aging, will lead in preparing a report of present conditions, and pointing out what is needed for the senior citizens.

There is no promise in advance of senior citizens centers; the survey might show other means might better solve the loneliness and boredom of this important segment of our population. But when completed and given to the County Board of Supervisors, the report will point to actual conditions and needs—and constructive action can be taken thereafter without visionary surmise.

It's high time to base such a program on demonstrated needs and desires of the seniors, rather than on well-meant guessing.

Summer Sailors On The Bay

Summer is the season for sailing on the Bay. Of course, anytime is boating time for those with salt in their blood—but summer and early autumn are admittedly most dependable from the weather standpoint.

We get seask looking at a fishbowl and the chill Bay breeze and the possibility of an unwanted dunking in the freezing waters leave our hearts lacking in enthusiasm. We may not be ducks, but we are certainly chicken.

However, if the mere thought of a sail bellying to the wind does not make our cheeks flush with enthusiasm, the sight of sailboats on the Bay would fill any heart with pleasure at their wild, white beauty.

Sailboaters are a special breed and, we aren't with them; we admire them.

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

Marin's Tax Bill Took Big Jump But Per Capita Still Below Average

By CHAPIN A. DAY

Property tax bills sent Marin taxpayers in fiscal year 1962, which ended last Saturday, totaled $32,322,606, an increase of two and a half million dollars from the preceding year and just about double what it was five years ago. That is the report of the California Taxpayers Association. It showed that the total state tax bill for the year was $2,484,931,573, an increase of 70.3 per cent in the past five years and a whopping 186.6 per cent in 10 years.

But before you jump all over the county supervisors for increasing costs, we better look further into the association's figures.

Marin's tax bills for general county operation totaled $5,725,916, an increase of 52.4 per cent in the last five years. But in the 58 counties of the state, the five year average rose 58.3 per cent, making Marin County government look good with a less than average record.

'CHIP' DAY

The county's city fathers didn't do badly either. Marin cities' tax bills totaled $2,153,751, an increase of 58.7 per cent in the five years. That's just a hair higher than the state average of 54.1 per cent for the rest of the state's cities.

MOST OF MARIN'S tax jump was reflected in school tax bills, an increase expected with increased population and children. The total for the year was $13,372,784, an increase of 145.1 per cent above the 1957 total. The state average increase for school taxes was 83.1 per cent, leaving Marin school districts the third highest tax bill percentage increase in the state behind Santa Clara, 152.7 per cent, and Orange, 152.0 per cent increase.

Special districts in the county also accounted for an increase in taxes. Marin's $2,070,155 was 83.7 per cent more than five years ago, as compared with the state average of 73.4 per cent.

All these together total the county's $23 million plus, which is just 99.4 per cent more than in 1957, considerably higher percentage than the 70.3 per cent increase statewide.

AND HERE IS one other statistic from the Taxpayers Association.

Even though Marin residents have experienced a tax bill increase that is sixth highest among counties of the state, Marin taxes per capita are still below the state average.

The average tax levy per capita in Marin is $148.17; in the state on average the levy is $149.18, slightly over a dollar more.

If that's any consolation for you.

YOU CAN EXPECT some activity in Marin soon on the proposed George Christopher dinner scheduled Oct. 15 in the Cow Palace, with a similar dinner at $11 per head the same night in Los Angeles.

An unusual gimmick is that with your dinner ticket, you get a copy of the new book "Christopher of San Francisco" by Sausalitan George Dorsey.

Cash Discount On Doctor Bill?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I am pleased to see the effort by Dr. B. S. Manheim to clarify the MD's position on hospitalization. Possibly he could declare, fact or fiction, in other areas, such as:

1. The American Medical Assn. represents the doctor and generally speaks for him in its philosophy, policies and rules.

2. The delegates (MD's) to conventions are G.P.s, internists, etc. with surgeons being in the large majority.

3. As a group, surgeons are second only to psychiatrists, in personal income, therefore stand to lose far more from socialization, cancer cures, etc.

4. Some surgeons automatically double the fee for an operation if the emotional "cancer" is present; for example, certain gastro-intestinal ailments, like an ulcer, require removal of sections of tissue. Malignancy requires the same procedure, in essence, and surgeons time and skill. Is there an economic factor here?

5. Today, many doctors are quite willing to discuss fees or costs with patients; yet, most doctors and particularly dentists refuse to acknowledge their position in our economy as highly skilled professional business men. They pay taxes, have overheads, employees and places of business. In the business world, "no charge" items and discriminatory discounts are simply illegal.

Furthermore, in the business world, discounts are allowed and are legal for prompt payment of bills. This is a real problem for most MD's, yet to my knowledge, this advantage has never been passed on to patients.

Says Doctor Errs On Medicare Plan

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Dr. Manwaring's letter of June 23 does exactly what he begged Mr. Azevedo not to do—reflects misconceptions and confuses the issue. Although his letter contains errors and contradictions, I am mostly concerned about his erroneous conclusions presented as accepted facts instead of opinions.

He implies as factual that the King-Anderson bill will:

1. Destroy the high level of medical care. (assumption)

2. Shake the economy of the nation. (opinion)

3. Take another long step toward destruction of the free enterprise system. (purely guessing)

If free medical care to those who can afford it will destroy the high level of care now existing, why doesn't he and the AMA campaign against the free care that 20 million military with dependents presently receive?

If the good doctor is truly concerned about the economy of the nation, how about campaigning against the billions for defense, moon shoots, grain storage, or many other ways our money is possibly wasted?

What previous long steps toward destruction have we taken? And how did we recover from such steps?

No, I think the doctor is concentrating so hard on defense of an anachronistic system that he fails to see that changes are inevitable, but not always bad. It may be all right to brag about the highest level of care in the world, but let's not be an ostrich. Remember our reputed high educational system and the first sputnik!

Personally, I have enough faith in the intelligence of doctors, in the capability of our people, and in our economic system to feel certain that we can devise a plan to adequately provide for all medical care—if we just worked together and put our mind to it.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Chad Hulburt's Art, Mistaken Identity, Sunday Council Plan

BACK IN FEBRUARY, we wrote a column on Chad Hulburt's art. It was done in the simple spirit of pointing out to Marin County residents that some people appreciated his art—among them, my wife and I.

We liked the true-to-life qualities he gets into each picture. We especially liked some of his western and desert scenes. At the time, I pointed out that several of his Marin County scenes should be purchased by cities to show those areas as they can never be seen again.

Now, I would like to make a partial report on the effect of that column. Chad had lived in Marin County more years than he likes to admit. After the column appeared, he received calls from people he had not seen in years. It became almost an old friends' meeting place, via telephone and visits from friends with whom he had lost contact.

More than that, people came to see his paintings—some who had known his art and others who were strangers, to view it. Some of the strangers who came, saw and admired the exactness of his paintings. As a result, Chad's paintings not only will be seen in larger number in the Bay Area, but also as far away as Chicago and Las Vegas.

Five of his Western scenes now hanging in the New Tomahawk Lodge in Novato.

I DON'T KNOW who it is insulting—him or me, but there have been numerous cases of mistaken identity in Novato. Several times, Rev. C. M. Croughan of the Presbyterian Church has been mistaken for me. (I personally didn't think I was that distinguished a looking person, but maybe some people have poor eyesight.)

So I want to go on record right now, for the good Reverend's sake, warning all the town gossips—and there must be a few in north Marin County. Before you believe or tell any evil of the reverend—such as that he was seen to frequent the police station, a local bar, liquor store or other place where he is not supposed to be—remember, it probably isn't him, but me. In my own defense, I might add that my own line of work takes me to many places in which he should not be seen.

AT THE LAST Novato City Council meeting, Councilman Howard Schoof was holding out for a budget study session on Sunday morning. Most council members did not want it, but could not think of a good reason for not holding it.

When it was almost agreed that it would be held that day, someone asked Clark M. Palmer Jr., city attorney, if it was illegal.

Palmer answered that it "wasn't illegal, but probably immoral."

RETIRED MARIN County Fire Chief Charles R. Reilly will be honored at a public retirement banquet Saturday night at Dominic's restaurant in San Rafael.

We like the idea of paying tribute to public employees who have served the public well, because the honor of the job well done is some compensation for their not receiving as much pay as they might have in private industry.

With the hot summer sun giving everyone a good sun-tan, there is one word of caution I want to pass on—before you tell a woman that her stockings are wrinkled, look twice; she may not be wearing any.

Europe Joint Action Committee Statement Indicates Improvement

WASHINGTON—There has now taken place what is certainly a most important, maybe decisive, turn for the better in the complicated parallel negotiations about the European Economic Community and the American nuclear deterrent. This is the joint declaration of the Action Committee for the United States of Europe, headed by Jean Monnet.

This committee is an unofficial working coalition of party leaders, industrialists and trade unionists, from six European countries. It is the political instrument through which the action committee works. Its great power and influence stems from the fact that the committee represents the will of rising forces in the Europe post-war generation.

THE COMMITTEE spoke unequivocally in favor of British membership in ECC and in a European political union. It has declared itself against de Gaulle's separatism, which would lead to "profitless adventures and preserve that spirit of superiority which led Europe to the brink of destruction and could now engulf the world."

At the same time, the committee asks a partnership between new Europe and North America, for a "relationship of two separate but equally powerful entities, each bearing common responsibility in the world."

THE POSITION taken by the action committee will command warm support in this country. Adherence of Great Britain to ECC is indispensable to realize the hope of a great liberal trading area. If Britain, Scandinavian countries, European neutrals and the Commonwealth are all outside the Common Market, it will be presumptuous of the Six to call themselves "Europe," with little prospect of a partnership between Europe and the U.S.

Equally, we shall give our full support to the idea of a "new partnership of Europe and America" in the field of defense and nuclear weapons. Our argument with de Gaulle is about a separate, independently operated, French nuclear deterrent. Under both Eisenhower and Kennedy we have offered to help make, a European nuclear deterrent within NATO.

THE ACTION committee goes no further than to say "the new partnership of Europe and America will develop as the outcome of practical and patient effort to tackle together the problems they have in common." This country, which makes no claim to inherent right to nuclear monopoly, asks nothing better than that problems of an European-American partnership be tackled by practical, patient effort to deal with concrete matters.

The conclusion we draw from all this is that in the world today the unique and paramount mission of nuclear forces is to prevent the use of nuclear forces. In the U.S. view, a nuclear partnership between Europe and America can be worked out only if the first principle is that nuclear weapons are for use against nuclear weapons and against the use of such weapons as diplomatic threats.

Belvedere Council Adopts A Slightly Higher Budget

A budget of $193,700 or $13,000 more than last year, with a tax rate estimated at $2.36, was approved last night by the Belvedere city council.

This would be an 11-cent increase over last year's tax rate.

Originally the budget was estimated at $198,000 but $4,300 was slashed during the meeting on the recommendation of Herbert H. Scheier, a spectator. Scheier argued that enough had been accumulated over past years in the bond redemption fund for payment of $3,000 interest on the 1948 bonds and $1,300 interest on the 1957 bonds, thus eliminating these items from the operating budget.

City Manager Britton Rey explained that in 1948 the council had set the policy of adding to the budget to build up the redemption fund. Scheier contended this money should be used now, thereby reducing the tax rate by about 6 cents.

Assuming an increase in assessed valuation of $209,000, Rey estimated the following breakdown in the tax rate: General fund, $1.20; sanitation, 47 cents; fire protection, 10 cents and bond fund, 59 cents.

Major increases in the budget include $19,000 for the new sewage system, and salary raises.

Mrs. Elmer Fraass, who at recent meetings has challenged the council on the low salaries she claims are paid Belvedere police, reiterated her statements that the city is still behind other cities in the county. Rey revealed that the police chief was being advanced to $600 with an additional $50 for doubling as plumbing and building inspector, and that for the first time a uniform allowance is being given to each policeman.

Mrs. Fraass thanked the council for the increase and the allowance but maintained it still was not enough. "Someday I hope they will get overtime pay," she said.

The council instructed City Atty. William H. MacKay to advise Charles T. Mishkind that, as he had not applied for a variance, he must no longer permit guests to use separate living quarters in his Corinthian Island home.

Neighbors had complained that Mishkind was in violation of the zoning ordinance by permitting non-paying semi-permanent house guests to occupy the premises.

Hearing on Belvedere's bachelors who are occupying a main building and subsidiary building in a single family residential zone was postponed as the landlord was out of town and had received no formal notice to appear.

Agreement for joint use of a sewer line with the Tiburon sanitary district was approved. Westshore Co. was granted an extension of time for filing the final map of Westshore subdivision.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Heedless Player Doesn't Make Plan For Whole Game

You may not believe this, but once upon a time there was a bridge player who failed to make a plan for the hand as a whole. He played to the first trick without thinking about the other three suits. As a result, his friends wouldn't play bridge with him, and he entered politics and became a Senator.

This is the kind of hand that drove him to this fate:

Our unfortunate hero played a low heart from dummy and was delighted to capture East's king with the ace.

IT'S SILLY

Did you ever hear of anything so silly? If you were thinking of the same play, don't tell anybody.

You'll be wearing black string ties before you know it.

It was a good play for hearts but a bad play for four spades. And, after all, four spades was the contract.

VITAL ENTRY

South drew two rounds of trumps and tried the club finesse, losing to East's King. Back came a heart, and West's queen was a vital entry.

West naturally switched to diamonds, and East took two tricks, defeating the contract.

You see it now, of course. Or maybe you saw it all along. South must refuse the first heart trick.

East cannot attack diamonds then or later. If East returns a heart, South wins, draws trumps and takes the club finesse. East can take one diamond but cannot get the second diamond trick needed to de-

Today is Tuesday, July 3, the 184th day of the year with 181 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1863, the tide of the Civil War was turned at Gettysburg, as Union forces crushed the charge of Confederate Gen. George Pickett.

In 1898, the U.S. Navy defeated the Spanish fleet in the harbor of Santiago, Cuba, in the Spanish-American War.

In 1950, United States soldiers met the North Koreans in battle for the first time.

Tam High Trustees To Look Into New Site For School

The Tamalpais Union High School District board decided last night to hold a special meeting with the county planning commission July 9 or 12 on selection of a high school site on the Tiburon Peninsula.

The decision was reached after an unhappy discussion among Tamalpais trustees and leaders of Reed Union School District.

David D. Ring, president of the Reed trustees, had written the high school district June 20 to ask about the site selection.

Supt. Chester G. Carlisle relayed the query to county planning director B. D. Dobbs, whose reply was read last night. Dobbs said planners were ready to meet with the Tamalpais trustees.

Reed trustee Richard J. MacLaury objected to the meeting of high school trustees and the planning staff and inquired why the Reed trustees could not contact the planners directly.

Edmund J. Thomas Jr., outgoing high school trustee chairman, said he objected to "other agencies doing our business for us."

MacLaury retorted the Tamalpais district and commission were both public bodies and could be approached by anybody.

High school district trustee J. M. Stubblebine said he would like to sit with the planners so

Novato Teeners Find Recreation Aplenty This Year

Novato teen-age summer recreation program got into full swing this week with the opening of the teen center at the cafeteria and gymnasium at Novato High School, said Michael Gragg, director of the teen recreation summer program.

Junior high dances will be held in the gymnasium every Friday night until Aug. 24. High school dances will be every Saturday night until Aug. 25.

Badminton, volleyball, basketball and weight-lifting are held daily in the gymnasium. Table tennis, shuffleboard, darts, card games, the juke box and snack bar are in the cafeteria. These are open from 1 to 4 and 7 to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 1 to 4 on Fridays.

High school students use the facilities on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Junior high students use them on Mondays and Wednesdays. Both groups use them on Friday afternoons.

License Appeal Action Expected

Action is expected within two weeks by the State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control on an appeal for a liquor license for the new Caprice Restaurant in Tiburon.

Owner Kirby Atterbury's application for the license was denied last February on grounds that the restaurant at 2001 Paradise Drive is near a children's recreation area. Atterbury appealed the ABC decision, and another hearing was held last week in San Francisco.

Sidney Feinberg, ABC area administrator, said today a final decision on the appeal should be made in about two weeks.

Whether he gets the liquor license, Atterbury expects to have the restaurant open for business sometime late this month.

trustees could learn the reasons for their choice of site.

Delman D. Smith, new Tamalpais district chairman, said: "I think this is a matter of semantics. You know, Mr. MacLaury, that we are honorable men and our intentions are similar. We will do everything we can."

Stubblebine said that since he had heard of the enrollment figures for the district's three high schools, and especially the crowded conditions at Sir Francis Drake High School, he was not sure a Tiburon Peninsula site selection was justified at this time.

MacLaury countered: "The enrollment aspect is not the thing that makes the selection urgent, but the inflation of real estate which demands proper respect for use of tax money."

Tamalpais High School District trustees also:

1. Awarded a contract to W. J. Kubon Co. of San Rafael, low bidder at $45,239, for construction of six portable classrooms at Drake High, to be ready in September to accommodate 200 students; $50,000 had been estimated.
2. Hired John F. Aweeka, McClatchy High School teacher in Sacramento, to teach English and journalism at Drake High, and George P. DeTuncq, Novato High School teacher, to teach history at Redwood High.

Bagley Is Named To Subcommittee

Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) has been appointed to an Assembly subcommittee which will investigate better ways to help alcoholics.

"California ranks among the states with the largest incidence of alcoholism in the population. There is no question that we need a more effective alcoholic rehabilitation program."

Bagley said the five man committee, a subdivision of the Assembly Committee on Government Organization, will look for methods to finance an expanded rehabilitation program. "One suggestion is to get the major part of the money from the alcoholic beverages industry or directly from customers. This idea is gaining acceptance," he said, "and will be among specific suggestions studied."

Six Television Sets Stolen From Motel

About $1,150 worth of television sets and other appliances are missing from the new Tomahawk Lodge north of Novato, owner Ralph Clayton Briggs complained to the sheriff yesterday afternoon.

Briggs told Deputy Sheriff A. V. Menjou that the items were stolen from his motel, at 8141 Redwood Highway, over a period of time since May 12. Among the missing items are six television sets, a vacuum cleaner, and two pillows.

Buena Vista Heights Suit —$1.7 Million

One developer of Sausalito's new Buena Vista Heights sued another yesterday for 1.7 million dollars in a dispute over options to buy property in the subdivision.

The damage suit was filed in San Francisco Superior Court by attorney Joseph Casalnuovo on behalf of Philip Karp, Karp Development Co., and Le Sand Properties, Inc.

Defendants named are Perego, Harney and Teague, Inc., attorney William Steinberg, Beatrice Dunn, administratrix of the estate of her late husband, San Francisco furrier Max Dunn.

Both groups of developers are from San Francisco.

According to the complaint, a 40-acre parcel was sold to Perego, Harney and Teague by Steinberg and the Duns while Karp and his associates had an option to buy the land. The suit asks for an injunction to prevent the Perego group from proceeding with development and to prevent the City of Sausalito from issuing any zoning or building permits to the defendants.

The Karp group originally developed the area, at the north end of Sausalito, between Highway 101 and the American Distilling Co. About 15 duplex units are occupied, and single residences and one high rise apartment house are under construction.

Discussion Set On Proposed State Road Building

Proposed state highway construction in Marin County will be discussed by representatives of the California State Chamber of Commerce at the July 17 meeting of the board of supervisors.

The chamber's highway project study committee will ask for suggested highway projects from the supervisors and officials from cities, civic and farm organizations. Suggestions will be submitted to the State Highway Commission for possible inclusion in the 1962-63 highway budget.

In addition to the chamber committee, these officials are expected to attend the discussion at 3:30 p.m.:

T. Fred Bagshaw, assistant public works director; J. C. Womack, state highway engineer; F. J. L. Peterson, budget engineer, and Joseph Sinclair, district engineer.

Missionary Talk Friday

Dr. Tucker N. Callaway, an authority on Buddhism and a visiting professor at the Southern Baptist Seminary in Kentucky, will speak at a special chapel service at 9:45 a.m., Friday at Golden Gate Baptist Seminary.

Callaway has returned from a one-year stay in Japan.

Besides Dr. Callaway, Dr. John Shepard, professor at a Baptist University in Japan, and Rev. and Mrs. Tom Gullatte of Japan will be available starting tomorrow and for several days at the seminary to answer questions on missionary work.

FRIDAY 13TH FOR DISASTER

Civil Defense Note: The County Schools Disaster Meeting will be held at 8:30 a.m. in Woodlands Restaurant, Kentfield, on Friday, the 13th of July.

3 Young Bullies Punished For Knife Threats

A lecture by police and whippings by their parents were meted out to three San Rafael boys who bullied two other youngsters with fists and knives yesterday at the Bret Harte playground.

Mothers of the victims called police after their sons told of being held at knife point, beaten about the heads and stomachs and forced to sit in a tree.

The victims were Dean Smith, 6, son of Mrs. Janet Virginia Smith, of 43 Billou Street, and John Swanson, 8, son of Mrs. Evelyn Marie Swanson, of 42 Billou Street.

Two of the offenders were 10 years old, the other 8.

School Hoping To Avoid Rush Of Registration

High School registration and counseling offices in the San Rafael High School District will be kept in operation this summer in hopes of avoiding a last-minute rush of new student registrations this fall.

Mrs. Barbara Hickel, head counselor at Terra Linda High School, said this is the first time the district has made such arrangements.

"We encourage newcomers to sign up early," she said. "It will alleviate the last-minute crush and help in planning."

Offices at both Terra Linda and San Rafael High Schools will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, said Mrs. Hickel.

Frightened Away

A would-be burglar broke a plate glass door at Vern's Grocery, 414 D Street, San Rafael, early today but apparently was frightened away without entering the store, police reported.

The attempt was discovered by George Bullis, who lives upstairs over the store.

Plumbers Due $7.55 Hour

Wage and fringe increases approved last night will give plumbers in Marin County a boost of $2.22 in hourly wages over the next three years.

The new contract approved in San Francisco between Plumbers' Local 38 and Associated Plumbing Contractors will make Bay Area plumbers "the highest paid in the nation," according to Joseph Mazzola, Local 38 business agent.

Local 38 represents about 3,000 plumbers in Marin, San Francisco, Sonoma and Mendocino counties. Agreement on the pay increase averted a threatened strike of plumbers in the area.

The present contract calls for a $4.50 hourly wage plus 76 cents in fringe benefits for a total of $5.33 an hour.

By 1965, total wages will increase to $7.55 an hour, after annual increases of 40 cents an hour for the next three years.

Fringe benefits will include provision for dental and optical care, supplementary death and disability allowances, unemployment aid, vacations and a convalescent home at Clear Lake in Lake County.

About 500 plumbers went on strike in Santa Clara and San Benito counties today. Plumbers there turned down an employer offer increasing wages 90 cents an hour which had been accepted by San Mateo County plumbers.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN

Little Artie, Once Diamond Ace, Now Mighty Man On Local Links

Little Artie Schallack is casting a mighty shadow in local golf circles.

Noted in the past primarily for his baseball pitching ability, the ex-Yankee southpaw is now pitching and putting his way to a number of links trophies.

Artful Artie recently recorded his second "major" local triumph when he and partner Bob Seeba won the Meadow Club Invitational best ball title on the last hole.

This was done in broad daylight, quite unlike Schallack's more dramatic victory a couple of months earlier in the Italian Golf Carnevale at Marin Club. Late starters, Artie and his partner came to the 18th hole—in darkness—and needing a birdie to tie for the championship. They sent "spotters" ahead to listen for the sound of their drives and second shots; then by the light of the silvery moon, plus quite a glow from the clubhouse where a gay party was already in progress, the Schallack tandem got its birdie and tie for the title.

IT WAS appropriate that the victory dinner was turkey that night. The early finishers ate all the white meat because they knew Schallack was coming home after dark.

Getting back to the Meadow Club Invitational, one of our favorite tournaments, it was a good start for out vacation, one of the shortest in history, by the way.

Another ex-Yankee was there but couldn't buy his way into the prize list. We refer to Joe DeMaestri, the retired shortstop. There were two good reasons why Joe didn't win: First, he's ballooned up 23 pounds since he quit smoking and had quite a time waddling around the course; second, he was teamed with auto tycoon D. R. Collins, and I think the latter is a greater handicap than the former.

AFTER HAVING helped Schallack celebrate his victory and also console DeMaestri, our vacation then proceeded to a recuperative period at Don Emerson's Forest Lake Resort in Lake County, the greatest hangover remedy since Bloody Mary.

There we bumped into none other than Lou Spadia, the general manager of the 49ers, looking happy, healthy and completely rested. This is important. If the general sets an example, his troops will follow. Lou looked like a champ and he had that championship gleam about him. Will his 49ers follow the example? Will the shotgun click? Will San Francisco celebrate its first championship? Can a woman over 35? Tune in next December.

INCIDENTALLY, while bidding a sad adieu to Forest Lake and all its charms, we bumped into bossman Emerson who asked us to give his regards to his many Marin friends, particularly Eddie Erdelatz at Marin Title Guaranty Co.

(There were four plugs in one sentence. When it comes to namedropping just call me old butterfingers.)

Arrived home just in time to hop aboard the newly christened Harbor Prince, bay excursion craft, where a press party was to float for a couple of spectacular hours on the bay. They even had live music aboard. Sort of like Pitch Along With Mitch—Rock and Roll. Actually it was smooth and we hereby recommend a trip aboard the Harbor Prince. Don't let the tourists completely take over.

Not one scribe fell overboard, and this is news in itself.

And so, dry as we were—on the outside, that is—our vacation ended and it was back to the salt mines to lick our wounds.

Five Giants Picked For All-Stars

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Stan (The Man) Musial, walloping the ball at a .330 clip despite the fact he's 41 years old, was picked today for a record 19th time to be a member of the National League All-Star team that will meet the American League at Washington, July 10.

Manager Fred Hutchinson of the pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds, skipper of the N. L. team, today exercised his right to pick the squad's reserves and pitchers—and in general stuck pretty close to the voting by the league players that picked the starting lineup.

Hutch came up with one surprise—Sandy (no hit) Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers was the only southpaw among the seven pitchers he selected.

But the selection of Musial was no surprise. There have been times in the past when N.L. managers were accused of picking Stan the Man simply on sentiment, but this year he is swinging like the Musial of old with a .330 batting average through Sunday games.

Thanks to the recent practice of two all-star games in one year, Musial has played in a total of 22 classics during the 18 previous years he was picked. Both figures are all-time records for a player in either major league.

Hutchinson today selected seven pitchers and 10 other players to go along with the eight starting players picked by the N.L. players in their own poll.

WEST COAST FLAVOR The National League 25-man squad thus will have a heavy West Coast flavor with 10 players from teams in that area—five each from the Dodgers and San Francisco Giants.

Here is the N.L. squad: Pitchers (8)—Don Drysdale, Dodgers; Dick Farrell, Houston; Bob Gibson, St. Louis; Sandy Koufax, Dodgers; Juan Marichal, Giants; Bob Purkey, Cincinnati; Bob Shaw, Milwaukee.

Catchers (2)—Del Crandall, Milwaukee; John Roseboro, Dodgers.

Infielders (8)—Ernie Banks, Chicago; Frank Bolling, Milwaukee; Ken Boyer, St. Louis; Orlando Cepeda, Giants; Jim Davenport, Giants; Dick Groat, Pittsburgh; Bill Mazeroski, Pittsburgh; Maury Wills, Dodgers.

Outfielders (8)—Hank Aaron, Milwaukee; Felipe Alou, Giants; Richie Ashburn, New York; John Callison, Philadelphia; Bob Clemente, Pittsburgh; Tommy Davis, Los Angeles; Willie Mays, Giants; Stan Musial, St. Louis.

Class A—Mrs. Axtman 5 up; Mrs. Lynn Sumpter 4 up; tie for third between Mrs. Bill Brown and Mrs. Leland Duffield 2 up.

Class B—Mrs. Eugene Philbin even; Mrs. W. A. Van Buskirk 1 down; Mrs. Hugh Richardson 2 down.

Nefertiti Sets Out To Prove Self

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—Nefertiti, the upstart entry in preliminary America's Cup trials, attempted to prove that her surprise victory over the 1958 defender, Columbia, was no fluke.

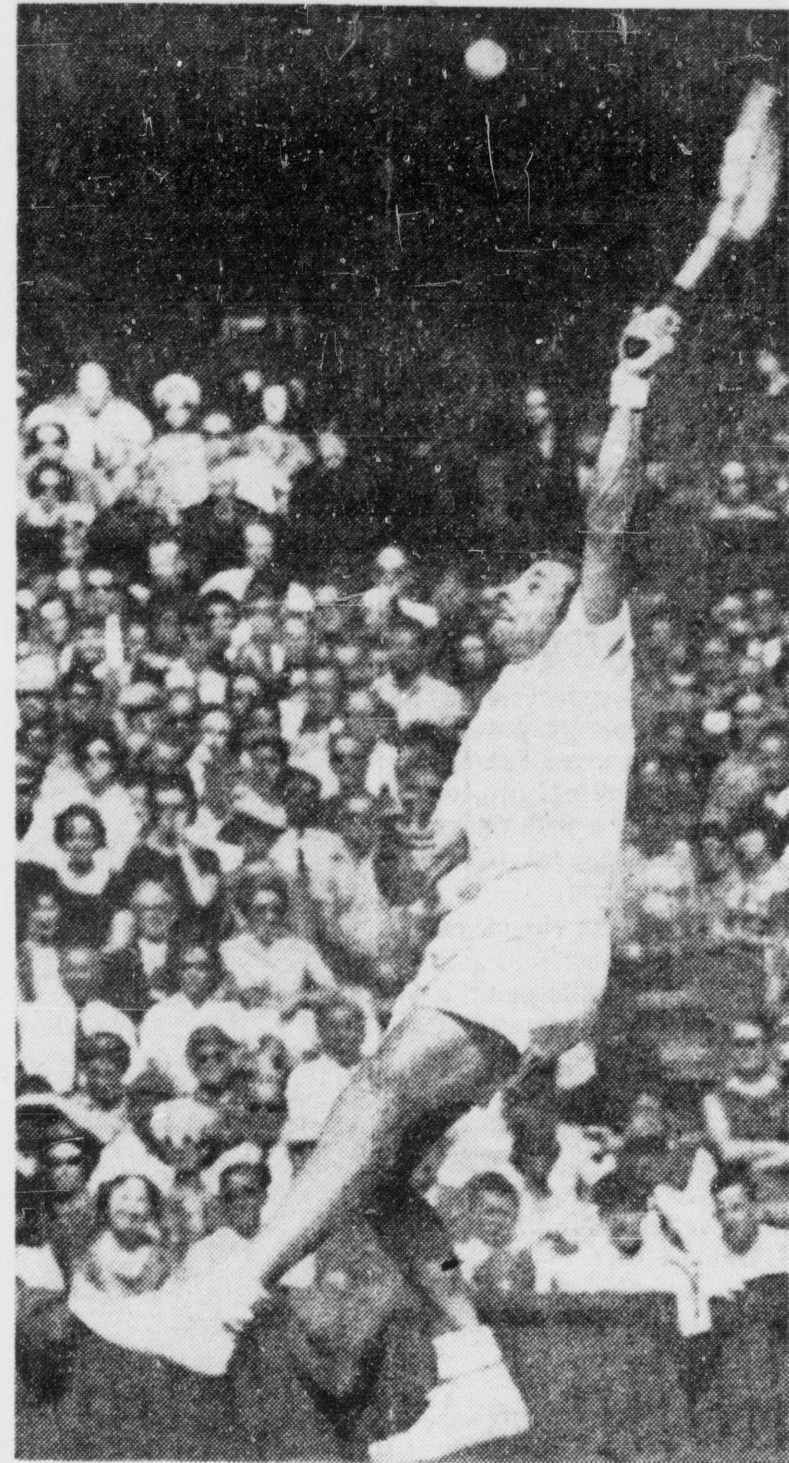

The six-week-old Nefertiti was matched with Easterner in the second round of 1962 America's Cup observation trials off Newport.

A California Girl Wins, One Loses

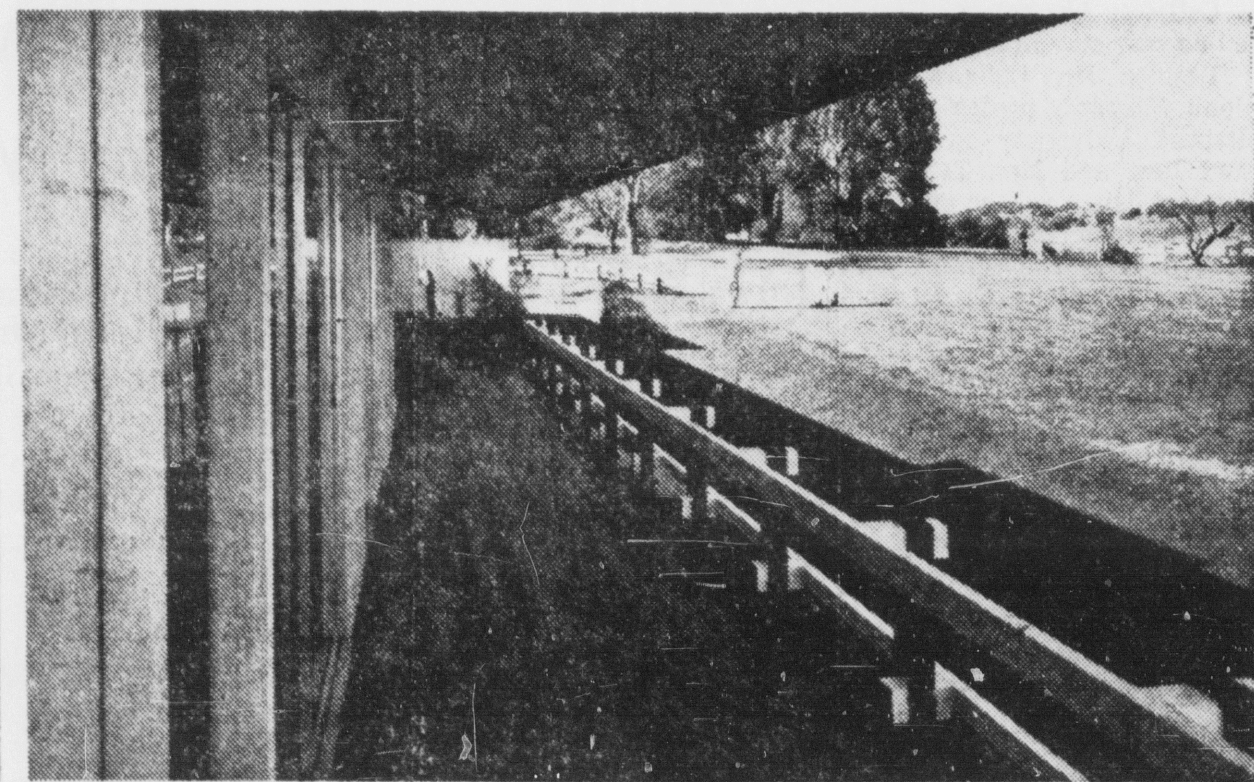

COMBINED AP and UPI WIMBLEDON, England — Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of Chula Vista, Calif., gained the women's semifinals in the All-England Tennis Championships today by beating Renee Schuurman of South Africa 6-4, 6-4.

The victory came shortly after her teammate, Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., hobbled by a leg injury, had lost to Ann Haydon of Britain, 6-3, 6-1.

There was no action scheduled today in the men's singles where four Australians, led by defending champion Rod Laver, will battle it out among themselves in tomorrow's semi-finals.

Darlene Hard of Long Beach, the American champion and seeded second here, is considered most likely to succeed dethroned champion Angela Mortimer of England as the women's champion. Oddly, her chief competition probably will come from her closest friend, Maria Bueno of Brazil.

Miss Bueno won the championship in 1959 and 1960 but was unable to compete last year because of illness. The third seeded Brazilian plays seventh seeded Lesley Turner

Giants In Second Place After Loss

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A near-hero performance by All-Star team member Jim Davenport that fell to shreds on a bobbled rally-killing double play ball has the San Francisco Giants back in second place.

After Davenport's home run and two-run triple helped the Giants wipe out a 4-0 New York Mets lead last night he booted a sharp grounder to third that opened the gate to four Mets runs and an 8-5 victory.

The Giants tried to make up half of their one-game deficit today by sending Jack Sanford (7-6) against Alvin Jackson (4-8) of the Mets. The league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers were idle today.

Stu Miller joined Davenport in the goat role, first walking home the tying run in the eighth, then feeding a bases-clearing double to ex-American Leaguer Gene Woodling.

"This was a rough one to lose," Giants Manager Alvin Dark muttered. The Mets had taken an early 4-0 lead, thanks primarily to three walks by starter Juan Marichal that each cost a run.

Craig Anderson blanked the Giants until Davenport homered leading off the sixth. The apparent winning rally began in the seventh with Jose Pagan's infield single. After a force play, Chuck Hiller dumped a single to center.

Davenport then pushed a triple to right that scored two runs and came home himself a moment later when Willie Mays swatted Anderson's first pitch over the left-center field fence.

It was Mays' first home run since June 6 and 22nd of the season.

MILLER FAILS

But then Miller (4-4) failed to hold the Mets. Marv Throneberry and Frank Thomas rapped singles. Davenport made a fine running cash of Elio Chacon's pop foul, but negated that performance by booting Rod Kanehl's boulder to the bag.

Miller got the second out on a force at the plate, but walked Felix Mantilla on a 3-1 pitch with the bases full. And then Woodling, who came to the Mets only two weeks ago, unlimbered his right field double.

"I knew he could play," chorled old case after Weeding's two-out, eighth-inning blow. "He played with me with the Yankees and we won five pennants and five world series (1949-53). You have to play pretty good to do that."

GLAD TO BE BACK

"I'm glad to be back with Casey," said Woodling. "He's had me playing regularly—even a doubleheader the other day." Woodling came from the Washington Senators.

Ironically, Woodling damaged the team from the city in which, 14 years ago, he turned the corner into the major leagues.

"You know I'd already been up and back down when I played here with the Pacific Coast League Seals in '48," recalled Woodling. "But Lefty O'Doul worked on my hitting stance and that was my turning point. There's hardly a year goes by that my wife and I don't talk about San Francisco."

MAJORS ROUNDUP

Dodgers In First After Twin Win

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

What's with Johnny Podres, the shrewd southpaw who can tie a modern major league record by striking out eight consecutive batters and hurl perfect ball for 6½ innings, but is unable to pitch a full nine innings?

That was the puzzling problem confronting the Los Angeles Dodgers today after they regained first place in the National League last night by whipping Philadelphia 5-1 and 4-0 behind the sparkling pitching efforts turned in by Podres and Stan Williams.

Podres, whose medical history starts with a mysterious back ailment and runs through appendicitis, rib injury, pulled tendon and auto accident, tied the strikeout record set by Milwaukee's Max Surkont in 1953, and had a perfect game until two were out in the seventh.

An inning later he was standing under a shower.

ONLY FOURTH WIN

The 29-year-old left-hander's inability to go the distance now extends through 12 straight games. Off his 18-5 record last year, this figured to be his biggest season, but last night's triumph was only his fourth in 10 decisions.

Williams, on the other hand, did an about face and came through with a seven-hitter and his first complete game since April 30.

The twin triumphs, coupled with San Francisco's 8-5 loss to the Mets, put the Dodgers back on top again by a full game over the Giants.

Pittsburgh used a two-run single by Bob Skinner that touched off a heated dispute to beat Houston 4-2, Eddie Mathews hit a grand-slam homer that led Milwaukee to a 7-3 triumph over St. Louis and Chicago and Cincinnati split. The Cubs won 6-5, the Reds came back, 4-3.

In the American League, the first-place New York Yankees belted Kansas City 8-4, the runner-up Los Angeles Angels edged Washington 2-1, Cleveland blanked Baltimore 2-0, Boston nipped Minnesota 4-3 and Detroit squeezed by the Chicago White Sox 2-1.

Podres started his strikeout string in the fourth, getting Ted Savage, Roy Sievers, Don Demeter, Tony Gonzalez, Bob Oldis, Bob Wine, pitcher Jack Hamilton and Mel Roach before John Callison grounded out. Savage then followed with a single to center, the first Phil's hit. Four more hits and a run in the eighth chased Podres and brought on Larry Sherry to finish up. Willie Davis' grand-slam homer off Hamilton (5-6) in the third made it easy for the Dodgers.

Williams (7-4) hit his first homer in the third to get the Dodgers started against rookie Billie Smith (1-2) in the nightcap.

Women's Open Champ

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (UPI)—New women's open champion Murle Lindstrom plans to reconsider her decision to retire from professional competitive golf now that she has won her first tournament.

The 23-year-old blonde called her husband Saturday and greeted him with, "Guess what, I won the open." And she did it the hard way, picking up five strokes on the final 18 holes of play over the rugged Dunes Club course.

For her rounds of 78-74-76-73—301, Murle picked up $1,800 first prize money. It was more than she has won all year. She pocketed $1,199 from the tour this season before winning the open.

Patterson, Liston Sign For Big Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—Heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson took pen in hand and quickly wrote his name to the contract. Sonny Liston, the challenger, laboriously wrote his name and concluded formalities yesterday for one of the biggest championship fights in years.

Both fighters were well dressed and both gave an impression of confidence. They meet in Comiskey Park Sept. 25 for the title.

"The fight won't last long," said Liston, meaning he will defeat Patterson in the early rounds. "I hope he's right," said Patterson. "Only I want it in my favor."

Patterson, weighing 193 pounds, "one or two over what I expect for the fight" chose his words well. "I'll step up training when I return to my training quarters at Highland Mills, N.Y. I've been boxing two or three times a week and two or three rounds each time. I'm not worried about my weight. I'll really work about five weeks before the fight."

WATCHED LISTON "I watched Liston fight twice. Both times he won by a knockout. That's all I want to see. I want to see him at his best."

Liston had to swear before the Illinois Athletic Commission that he had no managers. The Philadelphia battler said George Katz was his manager technically but that Katz had relinquished all his rights for 10 per cent of Liston's earnings.

Jack Milon, a Philadelphia concessionaire, was declared Liston's advisor. Answering a flurry of questions concerning his managers, Liston said: "I'm sure me and Pat will fight in the ring, not our managers."

Patterson will receive 45 per cent of the live gate and 55 per cent of ancillary rights. Liston gets 12½ per cent of the live gate or a $200,000 guarantee.

Promoters of the fight predicted a gross revenue of more than $5 million, with theater television providing more than $4 million.

Hiller The Unsung Hero Of Giants; He's Little Cog In A Big Wheel

'Midst the sound and the fury, the shouting and tumult, the boos, the cheers and the catcalls that are the hallmark of a hot pennant chase, let's take a breather and recognize the forgotten man of the San Francisco Giants, Chuck Hiller.

While almost every other Giant rates headlines, Hiller shows up at the ball park day after day, does his job, and goes home uncelebrated and unsung.

What does a guy have to do? Comparisons are supposed to be odious, so let's be odious. At first glance this may seem the most unfair comparison possible, but we're going to stack our man up against the greatest Giant of them all — Willie Mays. Oh, NO! says you? Oh, YES, sizz!

As of Sunday, Chuck Hiller and Willie Mays had both appeared in 80 games. The only other Giant with this record of durability is another forgotten man, shortstop Jose Pagan, of whom more later.

OFFICIAL TIMES at bat? Almost the same. For Hiller, 309; for Mays, 308. Hits? The great Mays had 96, while Hiller had quietly hammered out 85 hits, ONLY 11 LESS. Runs? The same story, with Willie scoring 63 and Chuck crossing the plate 51 times.

Shocked a little bit? So let's turn on a little more juice. Walks and strikeouts have a way of cancelling each other over the season, and we find Hiller with 23 walks and 26 strikeouts, while Mays had whiffed 53 times against 44 free passes.

When it comes to slugging percentages, the comparisons become a contrast. Just like the salaries of the two Giants. So what are we trying to prove?

ONLY THIS. It's the unsung heroes like Chuck Hiller and Jose Pagan who are holding the Giants together up the middle, both in the field and at bat.

One other factor should be

Outmanned Pirates Edged In Santa Rosa Swim Meet

An over-worked crew of Marin Pirates swimmers was barely edged out of first place in an aquatic cliff hanger, 158 to 166 at the first annual Santa Rosa Invitational Swimming Relays Saturday.

Ironically, the defeat came at the hands of the host club, the Santa Rosa Neptunes, which the Pirates had soundly dunked in a dual meet only two days earlier, 325 to 247 points.

So close was the competition between the two leading teams, out of six clubs in the meet, that the outcome was not determined until the last event.

Plagued with the same absenteeism that has already cost them several team victories this year, the Pirates nevertheless won 14 of the 33 races. Coach Beth Kaufman of Marin pointed out that her squad just didn't have the depth for a victory in the six-way competition on Saturday, even though

DONOVAN HAS NEAR-PERFECT BASEBALL GAME

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dick Donovan turned in a pitching feat last night for Cleveland that is rarer than a no-hitter. Over nine innings he faced only 27 Baltimore batters.

"There have been three no-hitters pitched this season," said Donovan's boss, Gabe Paul, general manager of the Indians.

"This is the first time a pitcher has faced only 27 men."

A search of the record books showed Harvey Had-dix was the last major league hurler to match the accomplishment. He pitched 12 perfect innings for Pittsburgh against Milwaukee on May 26, 1959, but lost the game in the 13th.

Donovan stopped Baltimore on a two-hitter for a 2-0 victory. The only blemishes were singles by Whitey Herzog in the fourth and seventh. Herzog was erased in the fourth when Brooks Robinson hit into a double play. A pitchout nailed Herzog in an attempted steal in the seventh.

Donovan's record was remembered, psychological and important. At the start of the season it was the unanimous opinion of the experts that the Giants might go somewhere in 1962 if they could get some help at second base; Hiller just wasn't for major league.

Trades were dreamed up by writers and Giant brass involving just about every second sacker in both leagues, but nobody was buying. There was nothing else to do but play the kid who didn't have it.

Don't kid yourself that this was a master stroke of genius by Manager Alvin Dark. When Hiller was sent back to Tacoma last year, in disgrace, Dark told the radio world, "Sure, Hiller may be back in the majors next year—with some other club." Kiss of death.

OUR HANDS are dirty, too. We did our share of dream-trading to bolster second base. Confession. But we know how to listen, too. And we listened to wise old Jimmy Dykes early in the season when he said "If the Giants will give up enough there are a couple of men they could get right now. But what-innells do they want to do that for? That kid Hiller has a big future. I wish we had him."

From that time we shed the veil of prejudice and began to use our own eyes. And what we have seen has convinced us that, should Candlestick Park host a World Series this year, gutsy Chuck Hiller will be one of the little cogs that made the big wheel turn.

they took the Neptunes handily in the earlier dual meet.

The victorious Santa Rosa squad gathered only seven firsts, but amassed enough points in seconds and lesser places to win. Coach Bob Casci's Tamalpais Swim Club, also short handed, came home with eight firsts, but was fourth in the meet, behind Ukiah. Fifth and sixth spots went to Oak Park of Santa Rosa, and Sebastopol.

Pirates who made the two meets were: Steve Yeager, Teresa Carlisle, Robin Yeager, Lisa Daprich, Lynne Keeler, John Rippe, Gail Hartwick, Chet Carlisle, Susan Carlisle, Candy Beeler, Donna Politi, Kirsten Beeler, Gerry Keeler, Denny Arms, Nancy Girvin, Molly Wheary, Gary Cheroski, Bob Friend, Ross Worden, David Tang, Rick Tang, Terry Shistar, Roberta Shistar, Lisa Purcell, Laura Gilboy, Ginger Purcell, Sandy Ball, Dorelle Ball, Nancy Gilboy, Andrea Diamond, Dusty Benedict, Jill Hartwick, Candy Carlisle, Vince Holsten, Doug Rippe, Tom Nannizzi, Linda Patterson, Terry Politi, John Osborne, Judy Friend, Bert Yeager and John Skaer.

Reed Passed Up In Selections For Davis Cup Start

LONDON (AP)—Bob Kelleher, captain of the American Davis Cup team, said today that Whitney Reed, America's No. 1 tennis player, was in the middle of a slump and that was the reason he had not been picked to play against Canada in the Davis Cup.

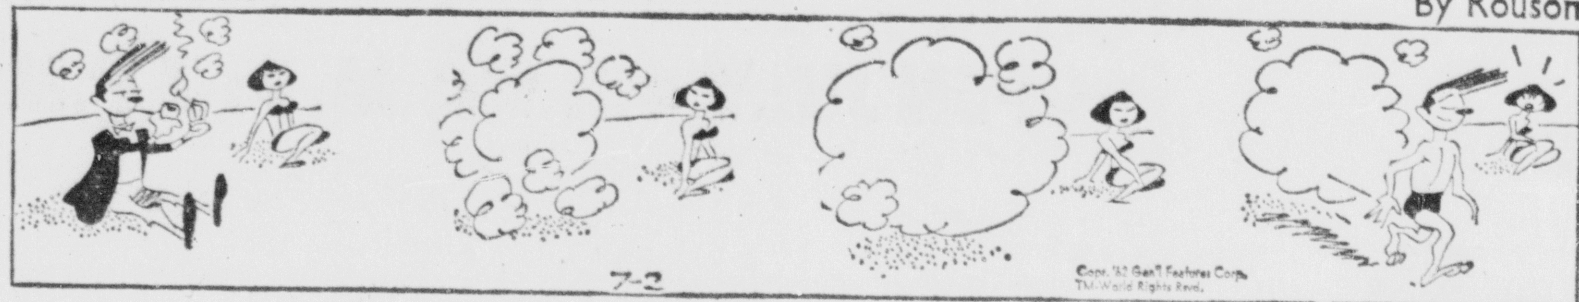

The United States and Canada met in the Davis Cup at Cleveland, Ohio, later this month.

"I picked the four players to play against Canada after studying the condition of them all and their recent records," Kelleher said.

Dennis Ralston, Chuck McKinley, Jon Douglas, and Frank Froehling were named for the match against Canada.

Reed and Donald Dell were omitted.

GOLD COAST CLASSIC

967 Wins Bowl Tourney

Bill Hughes, a bowler with a 179 average, shot well over his average to win the Gold Coast Classic Tournament at Nave Lanes and the $500 first prize.

The 24-year-old Hughes rolled a four-game series of 911 and with a 56-pin handicap finished with 967. His games were 236, 205, a terrific 278, and 192.

His 911 scratch series gave Hughes a four-game average of 228, some 49 pins per game over his regular play.

Runner-up for the tourney was Zeno Gelatti, manager of Country Club Bowl, who rolled a fine 903 scratch series. With his handicap, Gelatti totaled 940 to take the second spot and the $250 that goes with second place.

Gelatti recorded games of 217, 245, 189 and closed with a 257, firing the first seven strikes in a row.

Lee Stetson finished third with a score of 897 including handicap which earned him $100.

The 14 top finishers in the tournament qualified for the grand finals in Reno July 20 through 22. Top prize is $2,000 for the winner and four prizes of $1,000 each. There will be 31 other prizes ranging from $500 down to $100.

Among high games bowled by top finishers were 258 by Mike Powers, 256 by Chuck Leatherbury, 244 by John Gantner, 238 by Paul Gottlieb and 234 by Jug Paul.

The unofficial final standings of the tournament, subject to verification of all averages, were:

Bill Hughes 967; Zeno Gelatti 940; Lee Stetson 897; John Gantner 884; Jim Barnard 881; Mac Koch 878; Jug Paul 877; Van Hovanec 869; tie for ninth between Phil Wallace and Mike Powers 866; Paul Heredia 862; Paul Gottlieb 855; John Mallon 851, and Red Whitaker 845.

Winners of special prizes during the tournament were Stetson, Koch, Earl Le Duc; James D. Smith and Chuck Leatherbury.

Angels Boom, Mets Bust In First Half Of 1962 Season

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (AP) — Those amazing Los Angeles Angels provided the biggest boom and the New York Mets the biggest bust en route to baseball's traditional July 4 halfway mark.

There were plenty of surprises, even downright shockers, along the way. And for the first half ledger for '62, the entries read like this:

BOOMS

The Los Angeles Angels — The "miracle" no one dared predict has the second-year Angels soaring higher than they had any right to be. Doomed by the experts to several seasons in the second division, Bill Rigney's scrappers not only have been leading a flock of old line clubs right from the start but won't give up in the dizzy pennant race.

Bo Belinsky of the Angels and Earl Wilson of the Red Sox—out of the blue—no hitters.

Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers—who also pitched a no-hitter and may be heading for an all-time strikeout record.

Stan Musial of the Cardinals

Busts

The New York Mets—Hopeful of beating out one or two —hitting better today than in his first full rookie season of '61.

Manny Jimenez of the Athletics and Rich Rollins of the Twins—unknowns a year ago, they're among the top batsmen in the American League.

The Minnesota Twins and Cleveland Indians—their rise from last year's problem-plagued finish rates second only to the Angels.

Hank Aaron of the Braves and Lou Brock of the Cubs — on consecutive days blasted 460-foot homers into the center field bleachers at the Polo Grounds. A feat matched by only one other major leaguer in history.

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers and Bob Purkey of the Reds—winningest pitchers over the first half.

The fans at Chavez Ravine — they added up to a million in the 33rd Dodger game, one game quicker than any other club (Cleveland '48) in baseball history.

Busts

The New York Mets—Hopeful of beating out one or two of the older clubs, they're mired in 10th place.

Roger Maris of the Yankees — the home run king got off to a slow start and continued to have his troubles when Mickey Mantle's injury put more pressure than ever on his bat.

The Chicago Cubs — picked for big improvement. The Cubs quickly destroyed that illusion.

Don Schwall of the Red Sox — the 1961 rookie of the year in the A.L. is learning about the soph jinx.

Frank Lary of the Tigers, Whitey Ford and Luis Arroyo of the Yankees—injury victims who are busts through no fault of their own.

Warren Spahn of the Braves — always a slow starter, he's struggling to get even in the won-lost column.

Harmon Killebrew of the Twins—the "killer" is getting his homers mostly on the road and his other hits are infrequent.

The Cincinnati Reds — still looking for that pennant surge to match last year's.

Still, baseball being what it is, the booms of the first half may be the busts of the second—and vice versa.

Two Marin Bowl Teams Place High

Two teams from Greenbrae Lanes finished high in the recent California State Bowling Assn. tournament in Santa Barbara.

Greenbrae Lanes Team No. 1, captained by Phil Wallace, rolled games of 926, 1,083 and 984, and with a 142 handicap totaled 3,135 to place among the top 15 teams in the tourney. Other members of the team were Ed Clinton, Willie Corda, Don Fredette and Spence Ward.

Greenbrae Lanes Team No. 2, captained by Dick Treadway, rolled games of 990, 928 and 912, and with a 144 handicap totaled 2,974. Other members of the team were Bill Hughes, Ron Pascoe, Don Stevens and Rory Wilson.

In the Masters Tournament, held in conjunction with the state tournament, Treadway rolled 1,289 for six games (180, 266, 201, 214, 203, 225) and finished in 20th place. The top 64 in the Masters will return in August for the state championship.

Last Night's Fights

SYDNEY, Australia—Slide Prior, 144½, Australia, outpointed Willie Stevenson, 144, Boston, 12.

TOKYO—Kenji Fukuchi, 143½, Japan, outpointed Fil Ravallo, 145½, Philippines, 12 (Oriental welterweight championship).

BUTTE, Mont.—Charley Smith, Butte, Mont., outpointed Gaspar Ortega, Mexico, 10 (weights unavailable).

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I J Fish and Game Writer

Those Unaccommodating Shiners; Trolling Near Sisters Isles Hot

For weeks a certain well known angler had been coming back from one or two bass fishing trips a week with limits for himself and his fishing companions. The last few days his average dropped materially. The reason given by Doris Marshall of the Berkeley Harbor bait—"At this time, Ralph, you know the shiners change color, they become dark. The bass don't go for them." So, considering that our unnamed angler was wont to use live, light colored, shiners, drift fishing, the mystery of the slowdown is solved; mighty unaccommodating of the shiners, eh?

While the drift fishing and trolling in the areas near the Berkeley pier has slowed down, the trolling off Southampton Shoals and in the Racoon Straits in the mornings has improved to the limit category, while the striper strivers have done excellently in the Alcatraz locale.

THE EARLY morning and late evening trolling near the Sisters has been really hot the past few days. Boats from China Camp and Santa Venetia have been coming in with limits. I should qualify that by admitting, however, that on Saturday it slowed down somewhat, Sunday a.m. was again good, though.

Regarding the bait fishing, only one word can describe it—poor so far to date. Blame the series of minus tides and you won't be far wrong. Two bass came into China Camp and Frank Onizaki brought the only fish into Joe Nerviani's place at Santa Venetia.

TROLLING IN the Upper San Pablo Bay — on Contra Costa side—continues fast and furious by the late evening trollers, nothing worth while on bait.

SALMON TROLLING continues as record-breaking off Pedro. Perhaps not 100 per cent limits, but better than a two-fish average and the fish seem to be running a bit larger.

BACK COUNTRY fishing for stripers, is, of course, about as slow as might be expected at this time of the year, but, according to Ted Andronico of Frank's Resort at Bethel Island, catfishing is very rewarding, and quite a few black bass have been taken on live minnows off Quimby Island and Fisherman's Cut as well as in the North Cove of Frank's Tract. Rather exceptional is the report that lots of crappies are being taken in the above areas.

THE SOUTH BAY region, especially in the San Mateo Bridge sector and off Buoy 15, has been yielding beaucoup limits to the trollers in the evening hours.

THE WINDUP of the giant clam season in Tomales Bay closed Saturday with a record crowd digging holes in the sand on the large and the small islands, from Dillon's Beach. Sunday witnessed a young army exploring the rocks all along the coast from Ano Nuevo Point on the south to Fort Bragg on the north. Fairly calm seas and good tides (minus) combined to make both abalone and clam digging very productive. Certain areas, especially in the Santa Cruz region are off limits account of the annual quarantine because of "red water."

THE TOUGH ONE

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — What's the toughest single feat in sports?

Here's the answer Bobby Dodd, head football coach at Georgia Tech, gave during an after-dinner speech in Tampa:

"It's not batting in the ninth with the bases loaded. Nor is it shooting the foul shot with the score tied. It's not kicking the extra point that could win the game."

"It's trying to sink a short putt under pressure."

GAY COLORS and skillfully placed furniture transforms this back room into a retreat for two teen-agers. The wallpaper has been used as the basis for the room's colors . . . the poppy and pink for the cafe curtains and the blue tones in the rug and the washable bedspreads. Every bit of space is used, and the dressing table converts into a desk for study time. The sizeable chest-table separating the beds was a do-it-yourself project which is covered on top with the same material as the curtains. It stores blankets and hobby equipment. Floor and table lamps provide good reading light. Extra touches are lent by the novelty clock over bed and wall-hanger basket of flowers.

When Two Teen-Agers Share A Room It Requires Some Space-saver Planning

A room which must be shared by two teen-age girls requires careful organization and planning, plus a cooperative attitude from both parties, if it is to be a happy affair.

The needs in teen rooms are many: They should provide a place to sleep; an area for study; a retreat from family confusion; a place where friends can be entertained.

WHAT IS the solution and how can it be worked out without over-extending a limited budget? The best place to start is with a floor plan. This visualizes the room and how the existing and necessary furniture will fit. Once the ideas are put on paper, it's wise to try the arrangement to see if it really is workable and liveable.

Next, take a sharp look at the pieces of furniture already in the room. Are there any which can perform more than one job? For instance, instead of placing the two beds so they extend out into the room, why not try placing them in a catty-corner position . . . or if one wall is long enough, try placing them both sideways against it. This sofa-like arrangement will provide plenty of seating area for visitors. Equip the beds with casters, so they can easily be moved for making them up.

TAKE A LOOK at the desk in the room. Could it possibly also be used as a dressing table, simply by adding a hanging mirror and shelf? How about adequate storage? Consider painting an old trunk a gay color, which accents or blends with the room decor. This could serve as a coffee table, and could be a hobby or sewing chest as well. File drawers, either painted or finished with a wood-grained adhesive plastic, can be transformed into useful night tables which can literally be chocked full of odds and ends. Look to the walls, too, to save space. Instead of having a floor lamp or table, it might be wise to hang one on the wall over each bed.

Now comes the color-scheming of the room. If possible, since it must be shared, the tastes of both should be considered. If one girl's favorite color is pink, while the other prefers blue, try to work out a color scheme which incorporates both. If there is to be a pattern in the room . . . the floorcovering, fabric or wallpaper . . . use that as the basis of selecting colors. Try daring and imaginative ideas in the less costly areas . . . fabric for windows, bedcoverings, accessory notes, etc. It will be less of a gamble than buying a piece of high-styled furniture for the room now, and then discovering in a couple of years that your tastes have changed and this piece is no longer attractive to you.

ENDEAVOR TO learn qualities of the various elements needed in your room. This will enable you to receive full value for the money, no matter how much or little you have to spend.

There is a variety of styles of bedspreads which are ideal for teen rooms. The spreads are easy to care for too, since they must be put right into the washing machine and returned to the bed, without a touch of the iron. If the budget is particularly tight, it's an excellent idea to watch for the white sales in August and January, when stores feature some special styles.

Decorator Ideas For Teen Rooms

There's No Time Like Summer To Begin Anew

Teen-agers seem to find their own decorating personality either just before or during the teen-age years. This is the time when their room becomes their "haven." It's a private world for rest, study and entertaining.

Just as it's strictly a personal matter in selecting clothes, so too, it's "to each his own" in decorating a room. No two of us are alike and therefore our tastes and preferences will differ widely. Some girls will go for the feminine, romantic look . . . ruffles, canopies, etc. Others will prefer the tailored type of room. Some boys like lots of clutter and color, others like the neat look.

THE PLANNING and decorating of a room can provide a wealth of homemaking knowledge for the teenager. Because so much time is occupied with study and extra-curricular activities during these years, he or she should be guided to seek decorating ideas that are simple to do, and buy furnishings that are easy to maintain. By doing his or her own purchasing a youngster gets a chance to learn the importance of durable and pleasing materials. The time and effort will be well spent. The sooner a girl learns how to get true value for a dollar, the sooner she is on her way to being a successful homemaker and a man learns to become a good manager. But most important of all, will be the fun most will have in discovering and trying out new ideas for their own domain.

LUCKILY, THIS room decorating process need not be bank-breaking. Use one of the practical, handsome and moderately priced bedspreads as the starting point, and work ideas around it. Then, too, many a penny can be pinched by using the imagination and the do-it-yourself method. Paint is available in spray cans which makes it a cinch to give a new lease on life to an old bookcase, or a bedside table and teen-agers will enjoy it. A self-adhesive plastic is easy to apply and is a great disguiser for marred bookshelves or table tops.

This is the age of souvenir-saving, so it's wise to provide either a cork bulletin board or a pegboard arrangement. One youngster eliminated an out-of-date headboard entirely and used a huge piece of pegboard as the backdrop for the bed. On this she placed a pair of hanging lamps which provided plenty of light for reading in bed, and at the same time, gave her plenty of room to pin up pictures, invitations, etc., in a decorative manner.

WHEN PLANNING a girl's room, also consider a full-length mirror—hung against the wall or on the back of the closet door, to check pre-date appearances from head to toe. A dressing table will encourage feminine charms. Desirable, too, is counter top space to provide an area for school books, record player, and clock-radio. Plants are wonderful room brighteners and soften the angular lines of the furniture.

NATURAL LOOK FOR BOY'S ROOM

A country look is brought into the home with easy maintenance wood furnishings and decor featuring a large table-desk suitable for model-building or studying. The natural wood effect is carried out in the chair, the barn-door treatment which is repeated in the twin cupboards beside the desk and in the entrance.

Asphalt tile flooring is in the wood-grain pattern. Space-saver bunks have storage underneath and are covered with orange spreads which match the painted portions of the doors. Bunks walls are vinyl wallpaper in black on white pattern. Curtains are of dark green canvas sheets of it are also laced between ceiling beams to absorb noise.

Browns Return From Cruise

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brown returned to Mill Valley Friday and entertained at a swimming party and buffet dinner Sunday honoring several people they met aboard the luxury liner Roosevelt during its maiden voyage.

Guests of honor were Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Vohn Lordigan of Manila and Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. William Whitney of Tiawan. Other guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Tom Miller and John McSweeney of Mill Valley and Joe Montalto of Menlo Park and Mrs. Annette Allison of Kentfield.

The Browns left on May 10. Among the cities at which they stopped were Honolulu, Yokohama, Hong Kong, Kobi, Kowloon and Tokyo.

Gwathmays Host Luncheon

Bishop and Mrs. James A. Pike and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Blackmore were the honored guests at a luncheon given by the Cabell Gwathmays at their home in Belvedere recently, following Mr. Blackmore's ordination to the Perpetual Diaconate by the Bishop in St. Stephen's Church.

The Rector of St. Stephen's parish and Mrs. Llewellyn A. White were among the other guests. They are vacationing during July while Bishop Pike is visiting the parish. The Vestry, of which Mr. Gwathmey is senior warden, were guests, along with Messrs. and Mesdames John Hoefler, Ralph Noah, David Winslow, Thomas Behrens, Fred Wilson, Sam Mercer, Chester Bunnell and Dr. and Mrs. Donovan Cooke.

Completing the guest list were Dr. and Mrs. Clark Robinson and Dr. and Mrs. James Stone, friends of the Blackmores, who came from Berkeley for the ordination.

TOWARD ALOHA ISLES

Enjoying a final view of San Francisco just prior to her departure for Honolulu, Hawaii is Jaoni Everson of San Anselmo. She and many other college students sailed aboard the Lurline on Thursday.

IT'S EASY to turn your beachcombing days into figure and glamour-building sessions. Merely make every move count toward better posture, greater grace and firmer muscles. When you bask in the sun, hail a friend, stand or sit, make your muscles work. Force a tug in your tummy, in your shoulders and your legs. Be consciously aware of presenting a good figure, and you'll soon attain it effortlessly. Set your hair with bow clips for a double dividend of glamour-in-the making and a new casual when dress-up times comes.

Beachcombing Glamour

Looking for adventure this summer? It's as near as your patio. It's to be found on week ends or vacations. It's relaxing and beachcombing with a new angle. It's shaping your fall look by preparing and disciplining your figure now. It's an easy glamour routine for every girl worth a whistle.

Have your fun and relaxation in the prettiest ways. Make your every move a graceful one. Make it add up to better posture, greater poise and firmer muscles. Show off your new swim suit or play togs by consciously walking gracefully. Pick up those droopy shoulders. Pull in that tummy. Stride forth with your head held high. Instead of plopping down in a slovenly slump, prod yourself into a graceful posture whether sitting or reclining. Always be aware of forcing lazy muscles to work. Before long, the right way, the prettiest way to walk, stand, sit or lie in the sun will become routine.

The nicest part about this beachcombing glamour is that you do what comes naturally . . . only you do it with forethought. No strict, hard setting up exercises. Just a little more effort . . . a little more awareness of striving for good postures.

FOR INSTANCE, when you lie face downward, stretch yourself out from the tips of your fingers to the tips of your toes. Feel the tug on your tummy, shoulders and diaphragm. Or if you prefer lolling face up, stretch your arms down close to your sides, and point your toes out. Be enthusiastic when trying to attract the attention of a friend. Instead of waving with one arm, raise both arms up high, even higher. Stand with both feet firmly on the ground. Separate legs for proper balance. The friend will come a-running, and you'll have gone a step forward toward toning up all your muscles. When you're sitting, every once in a while clasp your hands over your knees, stretch your legs out, point your toes and rock. This will strengthen back, arm and leg muscles and slim ankles.

FRAME YOUR face with a softly feminine casual hairdo. It can be "in the works" while you're sitting. Follow your usual setting pattern, but fasten the curls with bow clips. These are single prong pin curl clips dressed up with all sorts of charming bows. They can be had in a wide range of pastel grograins, gay gingham patterns, fancy Roman stripes, bonny Scotch plaids, and luscious summer velvets. Clear, red, white and blues in the Americana family make a charming all-over setting for patriotic pretties.

Whatever's in store for you this summer, you can make a glamorous adventure of it and pave the way for unending grace, charm, poise and figure control.

CONTINENTAL TOUR

Elizabeth Rodden of Belvedere pauses on board the S.S. Queen Frederica just before the liner sailed from New York Harbor. Elizabeth, a College of Marin student, will spend the summer months touring Europe.

FOOD AND THE FAMILY

Nutrition Of Unborn Affects Entire Life

Second of five articles on what and how well Americans are eating.

Most Americans take their daily meals for granted much as they do good health, but there is growing evidence that lack of attention to sound nourishment can and does jeopardize health in a number of important ways.

Mothers of new babies are especially conscious of the nutritional needs of infants in the first year of life. Physicians almost universally recommend vitamin supplementation for the baby and for mother, too, in the months immediately following birth.

Yet for all this care, many young women embark upon pregnancy in a state of undernourishment, and do not consult a physician until the infant inside is already three months along. Dr. Paul Gyorgy, president of the American Institute of Nutrition, recently stated that the proper or improper nutrition of the child from conception until he is five years of age determines his health and stature all through life. The scientist added ominously that deficiencies which occur during this period are essentially irreparable.

RESEARCH AT Columbia University a few years ago showed that nutritional deficiencies, especially of vitamins, during pregnancy can prevent so-called inborn defects in babies and have a marked effect on their future intelligence. Dental investigators have more recently reached the same conclusions about the soundness of teeth. Here is one immediate reason why nutritionists are concerned about the erratic eating habits of teen-age girls and younger women.

It is often stated that common sense together with some knowledge of nutritional principles are enough to insure sound diet. Yet in a group of 78 pregnant women whose doctors relied upon instruction in diet principles, rather than supplemental vitamins and calcium, the foods actually eaten were deficient in every important nutrient except vitamin A. Blood tests showed that fully forty per cent of these mothers-to-be were deficient in vitamin C. Incidentally, the women who spent the most for food did no better nutritionally than those who spent least.

ACUTE SHORTAGE of vitamin C results in a disease called scurvy, an unpleasant condition in which bones become malformed, teeth and gums are weakened, and actual bleeding may occur without any injury to cause it. Though physicians have long looked upon scurvy as a medical curiosity in developed nations, a recent report from Canada showed the disease cropping up in infants to an alarming degree. The mothers of the babies, suffering from our normal nutritional overconfidence, weren't taking sufficient pains to see that the children had enough of the vitamin.

At the other end of life, specialists in geriatrics—the medicine of old age—are reporting that many symptoms which have been thought to be inevitable results of advancing age are, in fact, caused by poor eating habits.

Recently a scientist at Columbia University suggested that some of the forgetfulness, confusion and mental deterioration of older people is a direct result of their eating foods low in B complex vitamins. Other scientists believe that slower healing of fractures and other wounds in oldsters results from a mild deficiency of vitamin C. Columbia's Dr. W. H. Sebrell also cites muscular pains, skin troubles, and certain eye conditions commonly seen in the aged as partially or wholly the result of lack of protein and essential vitamins and minerals.

WHETHER POOR eating habits and resulting vitamin lacks are responsible for greater susceptibility to colds, flu and other common respiratory diseases is still a matter of controversy, but studies of body defenses against such illnesses have shown a definite role for vitamins. In addition, the use of certain wonder drugs to fight infection is known to deplete vitamin absorption from the digestive tract.

All such studies of the role of nutrition point to a relationship between what we eat and how we feel, how we function and how we resist disease. As a result, nutrition experts are broadening their list of persons who, they believe, would benefit by daily vitamin supplementation as well as more careful planning of meals.

(The next article deals with reducing diets and nutritional requirements.)

Will The Fourth Be Only Picnic? Take Time To Teach The Children

Tomorrow is July Fourth, Independence Day. How will you observe it?

Will you drive too many miles, to a crowded picnic spot? Will you guzzle hot dogs and hamburgers and then doze in the sun until your hide is scorched? After that will you fight your way home through traffic, exhausted and crabby? For millions of us the Fourth of July will be a picnic, and nothing more.

I suggest the day be one of devotion to our country. It should be a day for realism and independent thinking about our independence. Look at the world. Despite our efforts, communism is still spreading. At the end of World War II Russia turned up in control of all eastern Europe. The people who believed in democracy and freedom were murdered by the millions. Then China fell, and millions more of our kind were purged. Then Cuba, next door to us. Now other Latin American countries are threatened, as are additional parts of Asia and much of Africa.

For years and years the world trend has favored communism. We have slowed the trend but we have not stopped it. Unless we do, we die. That is the great reality for our children, and for us this Independence Day.

Will you do something tomorrow, before you leave for your picnic? Will you take an hour to teach your children the meaning of an American-type independence? Will you tell them a little about our Revolution, and the men who led it? Help them to see that we stand for human dignity and freedom, not enslavement and collectivism. Let them begin to feel the urgency of the present world situation. Your babies can't understand such things, of course. But your older children can and should. Please teach them tomorrow. Thank you, friends.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "When should children learn the pledge of allegiance? Is kindergarten too early?"

Mrs. R. J. (A) Kindergarten is not too early. The words should be explained carefully. The salute should have meaning for them. The basic significance of the pledge is not beyond the comprehension of normal 5-year-olds.

Chapter To Hold Friendship Night

Thursday will be "Friendship Night" for members of the Mill Valley chapter of Eastern Star.

Mrs. Clayton Hess and Mrs. Sidney Robinson, co-chairman for the evening, have planned for entertainment a skit and a fun fashion show with all members requested to wear ridiculous costumes. They will decorate with hats and flowers. Mrs. Alan Shurlock is in charge of refreshments.

Resek Vocal Students To Perform Saturday

Mme. Bella Resek of Mill Valley will present her vocal students in a recital, which will be followed by a reception and refreshments, on Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the Outdoor Art Clubhouse, Mill Valley.

Participating will be Ann Ambros, Sally Champlin, Cathleen Crain, Peggy Freitas, Johnny Golden, Marianne Gustafson, Colleen, Handley, Judy Horst, Ralph McGlothlen, Jan McCready, Adria Michelson, Lynn Terwilliger, Patricia Young, Viki Ambros, Barbara Baldrige and Mary Sutherland.

Konnie Klenk will be the piano accompanist.

The public is invited without charge.

Two Surprise Announcements At Youngs' Party Saturday

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

There were two surprises at the cocktail party and buffet supper, Dr. and Mrs. Earle Young gave at their home in Ross Saturday night, honoring Barbara Atwood, fiancée of their son Earle Michael (Mike) Young Jr. As the more than a hundred guests came down the long receiving line, Mike's sister, Linda Sue Young introduced Kenneth Vernon Mettler and said they are planning to wed in January. Both are attending University of California at Davis. Ken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Mettler of Lodi, is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. He has one brother, David, who will be a freshman at San Jose State College. His sister, Lynette, will be a freshman at UC at Davis.

Linda, a graduate of Redwood High School, is a sophomore at UC at Davis. She and Ken will be married during the semester break in January.

Mike and Barbara will exchange nuptial vows in Vallejo Sept. 22. She has been attending Vallejo Junior College. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Atwood of Vallejo. Mike was graduated from the University of Redlands. He and Barbara will live in Marin County after their marriage.

The other surprise at Saturday night's party was the announcement by Doctor Young that he and his wife were celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary. Among those in the receiving line were the Youngs' other daughter, Mrs. George Poppe of San Francisco, and her husband.

Visiting at the Tiburon home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Green are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Crase of Honolulu. The Crases, former Petaluma residents, have lived in the Islands for three years where Mr. Crase is an education consultant for the Bank of Hawaii. They are being entertained by many of their friends in both Sonoma County and the East Bay.

Mrs. Crase is nationally known for her work in public schools with gifted children. She is extremely active in Honolulu with the Red Cross, Camp Fire Girls and the American Association of University Women. Miss Mary Fiedler, regional director for Camp Fire girls, whose office is in San Ra-land and the Scandinavian countries then go to northern Germany. There Dorothy will visit a family in Lengerich. She was a member of the household under the Experiment in International Living program three years ago.

From Germany Dorothy and Diane will go to Austria, Bavaria and Yugoslavia, then to Greece. There Dorothy will visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Baird (Barbara Hinshaw). The Bairds are living in Athens while Mitchell makes a traffic survey for the city. Dorothy, a graduate of Stanford University, will be away six months.

A HOUSEGUEST of Walter D. Kephart of San Anselmo over the Fourth of July will be Russell E. Danforth, for many years a member of Laguna Beach artist colony. He is coming here for the Marin Art and Garden Fair.

BARBARA ATWOOD

fael, is occupying the Crase apartment at Diamond Head.

DOROTHY HINSHAW, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Corwin Hinshaw of Belvedere, left yesterday by train for New York. From there she will sail July 10 on the Maasdam. With her is Diane De Lisle of Guerneville. They'll land in Rotterdam and spend some time in Hol-

Mrs. J. M. Rosse
9-Year Board Member

Thursday's article about Mrs. Edmond Gross stated in error that she was the only woman member of the Mill Valley Elementary School District Board.

Mrs. J. Martin Rosse has one more year—her ninth—of her third term on the board and served as its chairman from 1958 to 1960.

YOUR HOUSEHOLD

Launder Winter Blankets They'll Be Ready For Fall

When you exchange warm winter blankets for light summer covers, launder the heavy ones so they'll be ready for fall. Fluff wool blankets in a clothes dryer. Check for tears and rebind those that need it. Wrap the soft blankets carefully and seal in plastic bags. To protect the nap, don't wrap in too small packages.

Clothes that are completely dry can be evenly dampened for immediate ironing by being put in clothes dryer with a few dampened towels or sponges. Home economists recommend the "air setting." After five minutes of tossing your clothes will be ready to iron.

Are you satisfied with the way your washer does your weekly laundry? If not, the cause of your dissatisfaction may be that the water you use is not hot enough. It takes very hot water to remove dirt and make white clothes really clean. Set the temperature dial of your water heater between 140 and 160 degrees on wash day. When your laundry is done you can reset the dial to a lower setting until really hot water is needed again.

Beautifully colored bath towels are decorative as well as useful. To keep them looking new wash them often before they get heavily soiled. Don't wash light-colored towels with dark ones.

Garments made from 100 per cent man-made fibers should be washed in cold water with regular agitation and spin speed. For drying, use the wash-and-wear setting on the clothes dryer which provides the correct temperature for relaxing the fibers and minimizing wrinkles. Home economists recommend removing garments from the dryer when the chime signals. This prevents unnecessary wrinkling.

Properly laundered T-shirts don't need ironing. She advises buying shirts a size or two larger.

Gourmet Cooking Classes Planned

The San Rafael Recreation Department announces that a class in Gourmet Cooking will begin July 11 for a six-week session. Each week a dish from a different country will be demonstrated so that by the end of the course students will know how to prepare a meal from six different countries.

The classes will be held at Terra Linda High School each Wednesday from 1-2:30 p.m. Advance registration is required before July 9, with the San Rafael Recreation Department.

Jane Capella To Wed Robert Tuckey Jr.

A July ceremony at St. Sebastian's Church in Greenbrae is being planned by Jane Joan Capella for her wedding to Robert Tuckey Jr., whose engagement has been announced.

The bride-elect, daughter of Mrs. Mary Capella of Kentfield and C. E. Ayers of Guerneville, is the sister of Robert Capella and the granddaughter of Mrs. John Capella of Kentfield and the late Mr. Capella.

She was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended the College of Marin. She was graduated this month from the Dental Nurses College of California in San Francisco.

Robert is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Tuckey of Kent Woodlands, and the grandson of Mrs. Robert Tuckey of Tiburon and the late Mr. Tuckey. He was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is employed by Marin Landscape Materials in Novato.

Jane has chosen as her attendants Nancy Niederholzer as maid of honor and Melody Yoell of Corte Madera, Diane Maglullo of San Rafael and Shirley Tietjen of Greenbrae as bridesmaids. Little Ada Russell of San Anselmo will be the flower girl for the ceremony, which will be performed by the Rev. Francis Lacey. A reception at Fairfax Women's Club will follow the wedding.

Q. Can you name the textbook that's completely rewritten every day?

A. There is one, you know. It's your daily newspaper. When you stop to think, isn't your newspaper the most up-to-date textbook on a great many school subjects?

It's unsurpassed in coverage of current political, social or economic events. It's filled with reports of latest discoveries in biology, chemistry and all sciences. It also fills in background on foreign lands for foreign-language study. It prints articles on local history... food, family, furnishings news of use in homemaking courses... texts of great speeches... examples of English composition and good grammar.

No wonder more and more teachers are using newspapers in classrooms to enrich basic-course material. In fact, newspapers have become such a widespread teaching tool that an extensive program of teachers' workshops has been created. At these sessions—held at various colleges throughout the country—teachers learn the most effective techniques for using newspapers in class to stimulate student interest. Sponsored jointly by educators and American Newspaper Publishers Association, these workshops help teachers help students become active, well-informed citizens. As a textbook for youth or the main source of information for all Americans, our country's newspapers never stop serving.

Used Furniture, Antique Store Opening In Hub

The Village Gallery, a new store dealing in used furniture and antiques, will open Monday at 230 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo.

The proprietor, Henry A. Stout of 19 Tamalpais Avenue, Belvedere, said he also expects to make it an auction house. Stout, a former distributor of electrical cables, moved to Marin County four months ago from Pittsburgh, Pa.

The business will be located in the building formerly occupied by Fontana Garage. It contains 8,000 square feet of floor space, Stout said, with an additional 2,000 square feet on a partly finished mezzanine deck.

The front part of the building will be used for showrooms and an office. Auctions will be held in the rear part of the premises, where a sterilizing plant is also to be installed to treat used goods before placing them on sale.

Stout said the biggest part of his business will be in buying and selling used furniture but he hopes to develop interest in his auctions which will be held once or twice a month during evening hours.

Nobody Wanted A Dead Deer

Mrs. Kurt J. Holzhauser, 367 Molino Avenue, Mill Valley, found Friday it is difficult to get rid of a dead deer.

She reported to police the deer had jumped from a bank, lost its footing, fell and broke its neck. The Humane Society was called but would not pick up the animal. The street department was called but said they could not pick it up since it was on private property.

Mrs. Holzhauser finally called the Mill Valley Garbage Co. to get the deer. They did.

Completes Course

Army Maj. Richard T. Yunc, 36, son of Mrs. Helen F. Yunc of Ross, has completed the regular course at the Army Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Named To Team

Army M/Sgt. Joseph F. Ackerman of 842-A, Fort Barry, was named to the Army Air Defense Command rifle team during the recent annual ARADCOM small arms tournament at Fort Carson, Colo.
